African Victory Seasons Green American Troops, Now Ready and Anxious to Tackle Nazis on Soil of Europe

(Editor's Note: C. R. Cunningham, United Press war correspondent, who landed in North Africa with the Americans and witnessed the whole six months campaign, here reveals for the first time some of the hardships under which they have lived, analyzes the factors that made them into a first-class fighting force and tells how today they have one objective—to participate in the invasion of Europe.)

By C. R. CUNNINGHAM
(UP Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA — (UP) — The American North African army today stands poised and eager for the next big jump-off which it believes will be the invasion of continental Europe.

"We did it once and we can do it again," say the veterans of Tunisia.

Six months of battling the Germans in the rugged Tunisian mountains have transformed this army from a "test tube baby" into a tough, fighting group, which will be one of the ablest units in future Allied operations.

And today some of the highlights of those six months of hardship and final triumph can be told without interference by the censor.

The transformation began on the night of April 29 when we took an important strategic hill in the drive on Mateur. By the night of May 7, when combat engineers were cleaning up sniper resistance in Bizerte, the transformation was complete from divisional commander down to the lowest "dog face."

It took the first real victory to turn the trick. And the first real victory scored by the Americans was when an infantry division, which had been stamped as the least experienced in Africa, conquered strategic Hill 609, key to the entire defenses of Bizerte.

As word of that victory spread through the American army the atmosphere changed from uncertainty to victorious aggressive-

STORM FLOODS ROADS, LEAVES $12,500 DAMAGE

County Highway Closed By Bridge Washout; Streams Go Out of Banks.

One county road was closed today and damage to county highways in Troy township was estimated at more than $12,500 as a result of the wind and rainstorm which swept Richland county late yesterday.

A bridge abutment was washed out by rising waters of a small creek on Gass road, the county highway department reported, causing $2,500 damage and forcing a closing of both the bridge and the road.

Elsewhere in the township damage mounted to $10,000 as water swept over roads in a three-mile area, damaging the road surfaces. In all, road officials said, about 15 miles of roads suffered, but only Gass road had to be closed. The others were still passable.

County road 133, a mile and a half north of Lexington, was covered with water early today but was still passable. Parts of State Route 39 between Mansfield and Lucas were also reported to have been under water for a short time last night but it was not necessary to halt traffic.

Although an unofficially estimated two inches of rain fell in Mansfield last night, city officials reported only the "usual number" of complaints about flooded cellars. There was no official report of damage to any of the city's streets.

The official report of rainfall for the last 48 hours was 1.48 inches—more than half as much precipitation as was recorded during the 19 days on which it rained last month, when 2.08 inches of rain fell.

The average for May over a

NEW TEST FOR HOUSE ON RUML TAX PLAN DUE

Expected To Vote Tomorrow on Measure; Twice-Beaten Backers Hopeful.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Twice defeated in their battle for a modified Ruml plan, house Republicans expressed confidence today they could muster sufficient votes on their third try to send the skip-a-year income tax bill to President Roosevelt this week.

The test comes tomorrow in a vote on whether to accept the measure as already approved by the senate.

Meanwhile, some legislators speculated Mr. Roosevelt might not veto the bill if passed, as previously indicated, because of the treasury's desire for a 20 per cent withholding levy on wages and salaries to be applied against taxes on individual incomes as now assessed.

The president in the past has expressed vigorous opposition to the cancellation of a full year's taxes. If he were presented with the modified Ruml plan a veto would kill the withholding levy as well as the year's tax cancellation.

After a four months' wrangle, house Democrats defeated the skip-a-year plan, 215 to 198 and 206 to 202, and finally passed a bill by Representatives Robertson (D., Va.) and Forand (D., R. I.) abating approximately 75 per cent of last year's $10,000,000,000 tax assessments, through cancelling the 6 per cent normal and 13 per cent first bracket surtax on 1942 income of all taxpayers.

The senate last week rejected the house measure and passed the modified Ruml plan which abates for each taxpayer the one of the two years, 1943 or 1943, in whichever he had the smaller income.

Ruhr and Eder Valleys Flooded By Huge Waves

Allies Drop Bombs On Plane Base Only 15 Miles From Rome.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Allied bombers roared over Rome in bright moonlight last night and blasted the Lido di Roma seaplane base at the mouth of the Tiber 15 miles southwest of the Italian capital, it was announced today.

RAF Wellingtons which carried out the attack bombed and machine-gunned the Lido di Roma hangars, moorings and planes at will, with no interference from enemy fighters and almost no anti-aircraft opposition.

"Bursts were seen among parked aircraft," the communique said. Two hangars were set afire.

No bombs were dropped upon the eternal city, but the raid marked the closest announced approach of the Allied aerial offensive to its outskirts.

(Prime Minister Churchill announced Sept. 30, 1940, that he would not hesitate to bomb Rome "if the course of the war should render such an action convenient and helpful" and this attitude has been reiterated elsewhere in high Allied quarters.)

All aerial operations cost three Allied planes.

The tabulation of prisoners captured in the final battle of Tunisia disclosed 27 generals among the captives, estimated to total about 175,000.

It was announced that 190 Germans were captured by British

Sources Of German Power Blasted To Bits By Attack.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — British bombers attacked Berlin, the environs of Rome, the Ruhr and the Rhineland last night and burst two of the largest dams in Germany, flooding the valleys of the Ruhr and Eder in huge waves.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister, said walls of the Mohne and Eder dams were broken. One backed up 134,000,000 tons of water and the other 202,000,000 tons, he said. Their destruction constituted a powerful blow to industrial Germany, he added.

The Germans themselves reported officially on the Berlin radio that the floodtide took a heavy toll of casualties.

Both dams produced hydroelectric power for Ruhr valley industries. The German yearbook lists only 30 dams, so the RAF's night work probably was a great blow to German industries, it was stated. Repairing dams is a lengthy task.

Sinclair's disclosure, was made in a speech celebrating Norwegian independence day at Albert hall.

"The operation was one of extraordinary difficulty and hazard," the air minister declared. "Eight big Lancasters were lost with their precious crews but Wing Commander Gibson who commanded an aircraft engaged in the operation, pressed home

SCRIBES HURT

Americans Injured In Plane Crash on Ground.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa — (U.P.) — George Palmer, United Press correspondent assigned to the British Mediterranean fleet, and George Tucker, Associated Press naval correspondent, suffered minor injuries yesterday in an airplane collision on the ground.

Palmer and Tucker were in a plane parked at a landing field. Another plane that was landing hit their plane and both were knocked unconscious. They were taken to a hospital.

Bus Seat 'Steal' Creates Flurry At City Terminal

Commuters, waiting at the Mansfield Greyhound station for a bus to take them to Ashland, were blamed today for creating a flurry of excitement on the bus platform shortly after 8 p. m. Saturday.

The slight disturbance occurred when a eastbound bus pulled in from Columbus for a brief rest stop and to take on local passengers. Some of the commuters refused to wait until through-passengers had returned to their seats on the bus, according to company representatives; they entered the vehicle to take seats which the through-travelers had temporarily vacated.

The driver explained the bus company ruling that through passengers were entitled to retain their seats. Some of the passengers left the bus. Others refused to leave. A number of arguments were reported by passengers.

Bus company officials settled the matter by providing other seats on the bus for the through-passengers who had lost their places. They said it was not necessary to put on an extra bus.

City's Memorial Day Program And Parade To Be On Sunday

Partial plans for Mansfield's Memorial Day celebration were announced today by the Mansfield Community Memorial and Patriotic association following a meeting Saturday evening.

According to the plans of the organization Memorial Day services will be held entirely on Sunday in order to allow defense workers, who will be on the job Monday, to participate.

A parade of patriotic organizations will form at 10 a. m. and march to the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church for Memorial Day services. The American Legion, Auxiliary, and Legion Cadets will meet at the Legion Home on Park avenue west at 10 a. m. and march to the Memorial building where all other patriotic organizations will join them. The Memorial building will be the meeting place for all organizations except the American Legion.

Rev. Paul Saleste will deliver the sermon at the church. Virgil Hageman is chairman in charge of decoration of Mansfield cemeteries and he will be assisted by the Boy Scouts and others Decoration of graves in outlying cemeteries is in charge of Harry Constance, L. A. Capwell, William Myers, and Lee Henry.

SOLDIER KILLED

Sgt. Edward T. Russell, 23, Dies at Fort Benning.

A Richland county soldier, Edward T. Russell, 23, a sergeant technician with the army air force was killed Saturday at Fort Benning, Ga., relatives here were notified today.

Details concerning the death were lacking in a telegram to the youth's sister, Mrs. Glenn Maglott of near Bellville, with whom he had made his home before enlisting in the service nearly two years ago.

Sgt. Russell had been assigned to a troop carrier squadron at Victorville, Cal., and only last week was transferred to Fort Benning.

Survivors include his father, Fred Russell, Columbus, four brothers, Fred, jr., Alva, Harvey and Donald, all of Mansfield, and five sisters, Mrs. Maglott, Mrs. Robert Carter, Lexington; Mrs. Claude Stricker, Dayton, Mrs. Kenneth Purdy, Mansfield, and Miss Marjorie Russell, Columbus.

When Sergeant Says 'Hit The Dust,' He Means It, Fellows

AN ADVANCED ALEUTIANS BASE (AP) — Army men under fire soon learn there is no point trying to win the war by standing up to a strafing Japanese plane and making faces at it.

The troops at this Pacific outpost know from experience it is better to save themselves for their own jobs and let the AA crews and the air force take care of low-flying enemy aircraft.

They hope the boys in the training camps at home take the sergeant seriously when in practice he yells, "Hit the dust."

Pfc. Ross E. Jeneske of Wheeling, W. Va., said "Here is my little experience. We were taken by surprise when the bombs began to drop. All at once the Jap plane left a trail of smoke, leading us to think that he was hit. We all stood up to see the finish. All at once we were looking that Jap plane right in the face with all of his guns open.

"We took cover. There were two men hit. I turned my head just in time to see one of them go down, never to open his eyes again."

BRICKER VETOES BILL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Gov. John W. Bricker vetoed today a bill authorizing Shelby county to elect a fair board by popular vote. The bill was unconstitutional, Bricker said, because it was confined to one county rather than being statewide.

Table Waste Drops Sharply In Mansfield, City Survey Shows

Mansfielders must be taking the late Calvin Coolidge's advice to "eat it up."

That's the conclusion Lester L. Linham, superintendent of the garbage department, has reached in checking over collection figures for the first quarter of the year.

The city has 300 more clients on the garbage collection service list than it had during the first four months of last year, yet the amount of garbage collected during the first quarter of 1943 is 11,000 pounds, or five and a half tons, less.

Last year the city had approximately 5,100 subscribers to the garbage service; this year the figure is 5,400. Collections in the first quarter of last year totaled 1,592,000 pounds; this year it totaled only 1,581,000 pounds.

"The garbage cans just aren't as full as they used to be," Linham said. "People must be cooking and eating more carefully as a result of rationing."

Linham added: "That's fine for the man who pays the grocery bill, but it's just so much grief to us. Our drivers must travel just as far as they ever did to collect a smaller tonnage. It takes just as much gasoline to operate the trucks and just as much coal to heat the incinerator."

OPTIMISM GONE

Bricker Has No Idea Now When Legislature Will Quit.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Bricker, who in January said he hoped for a "short session" of the legislature, today went out of the predicting business.

Asked if he believed the legislatur would adjourn by June 1, the governor laughed and said: "I hope they will get out sometime and that is as far as I will go now."

BOLSTERED: More American Forces Reach Attu, Japs Say

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—American submarines raiding through Pacific waters have sunk six enemy ships, including a destroyer, and damaged another Japanese vessel, the navy reported today.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A naval spokesman today flatly denied Axis charges that American forces have used poison gas in their attack on Japanese on Attu island in the Aleutians.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The Tokyo radio quoted a Japanese army spokesman as saying attacking United States forces were landing a steady stream of reinforcements on Attu island under cover of a naval and air bombardment.

Japanese troops, however, are holding on to their positions and have made a number of damaging counterattacks against tremendous numerical odds, the spokesman declared.

The acknowledgement that American troops still were pouring ashore at Attu was subordinated at the end of the broadcast, which sought to emphasize successes which the Japanese were said to have gained in the early phases of the fighting.

The broadcast, which was recorded by the Associated Press, said heavy fighting was raging on the northern coast.

The Japanese spokesman, Maj. Gen. Nakao Yahagi, chief of the army press section, was quoted in the Tokyo broadcast as saying the Americans had launched a three-pronged attack against the strategic island at the western end of the Aleutians.

The main attacking force, he said, effected a landing on the southern coast on the morning of

DOUBT: London Scoffing At Report King Victor Abdicates

(By Associated Press)

BERN — Italy's grave position in an Allied-controlled Mediterranean was being hammered home to her people today as a part of Premier Mussolini's redoubled efforts to tighten his defenses, reports reaching neutral Switzerland said.

At the same time the situation confronting Mussolini gave rise to a flood of rumors concerning the internal situation in Italy, the most sensational of which was a report by the Morocco radio that King Victor Emmanuel would abdicate in favor of Crown Prince Umberto.

These reports were without any confirmation, however, and telephone calls later in the night by neutral journalists gave no indication of any unusual situation.

(The rumor was received skeptically in London, where it was pointed out King Emmanuel's prestige was higher than at any time since the Fascist march on Rome in 1922. It was recalled that the Rome radio's accounts of the final fighting in Tunisia had closed with "Long live the king—long live Italy," conspicuously omitting Mussolini's name.

(Other unconfirmed reports included an assertion by the Dakar radio that the Italian cabinet has resigned, and a Moscow broadcast that more than 300,000 people had fled from southern Italy to Rome within the past two weeks in hopes that Rome would not be bombed.)

The Swiss newspaper Die Nation, commenting on Italy's defense preparations, said Italy did not expect further help from Germany in case of an invasion, since

Give my suits to Willie, Mom . . . they'll never fit me now. That's part of a letter from a Mansfield boy who has gained 25 pounds since he joined the Army.
The suits he left behind go to the kid brother and that's the way this clothing store likes it. When that boy comes marching home, we'll have the new clothes to fit his new figure.
Let's speed that day with more War Bonds.

FLYIN' JENNY

ARMED WITH GUNS AND AMMUNITION BROUGHT IN BY JENNY AND BABE, BALK REVOLUTIONISTS ARE STORMING AN AXIS PRISON CAMP---
5-10-43
THE PRISONERS ARE GETTIN' OUT, JENNY. SAY, THOSE GUYS LOOK LIKE---
RIGHT--- AMERICAN FLYERS! HEL---LO, YANKS!
ANGEL, I HEAR YOU CALLIN'--- JENNY!!
RICK DAVIS--- BY ALL THAT'S WONDERFUL!
JENNY--DARLING! FOR THE LOVE OF PETE, WHERE'D YOU DROP FROM?
FROM THE SKY, AS USUAL, A WARTIME HABIT I DON'T LIKE! BUT YOU?
HEY, YOU TWO! LOVE IS JUST LOVELY AND ALL THAT! BUT GETTIN' SHOT AIN'T SO ROMANTIC!
5-11-43
RIGHT BACK AT YOU, GRUBWORM!
WHERE'S YOUR PLANE? HURRY!
OH, RICK, THERE ISN'T ANY--THEY BLEW IT UP!
PLANES TAKING OFF, RICK--MAYBE WE CAN STEAL ONE--- THAT'S THE IDEA BEHIND THIS PRISON BREAK--COME ON!
UNH!
5-12-43
HEY, JENNY! RICK! WAIT--- OH, GEE, GOSH!
HA! GREETINKS, FRAULEIN!
SOCK!
BEAT IT, YOU JUNGLE MASHER!
RICK, YOU HAVEN'T TOLD ME YET HOW YOU HAPPEN TO BE HERE
5-13-43
PART OF THE SHOW, HONEY. GANG OF FLYERS--FORCED DOWN ON PURPOSE--TO HELP THE BALK REVOLUTION.
THE GAG NOW IS TO GET A SHIP, FLY TO THE RENDEZVOUS-- OH, GOOD HEAVENS!
THERE'S ONE---- WHAT'S WRONG, JENNY?
BABE--SHE'S DISAPPEARED. WE'VE GOT TO FIND HER, RICK. I CAN'T LEAVE HER!
AH, DAVIS, I WAS GETTING WORRIED ABOUT YOU. COME ON, MAN!
STRUCK A DETOUR, COLONEL, BUT WE'RE ALL SET---
5-14-43
WE? CAPTAIN DAVIS, THIS--AH--ER---YOUNG LADY---MOST IRREGULAR---
BUT MOST IMPORTANT TO OUR SIDE, COLONEL--MISS JENNY DARE, COLONEL BRYSON-JENNY, LAMB, I THOUGHT YOU'D LEFT ME!
I'D NEVER DO THAT, BABE
----AND HER FLYING PARTNER!
ONLY TWO SHIPS LEFT, SIR! BOTH OLD GRANNIES, BUT I GUESS THEY'LL FLY--I HOPE!
GOOD!
5-15-43
DAVIS, YOU AND MISS DARE TAKE THE TWO-PLACE JOB. THE REST OF US WILL TAKE THE CABIN---
I KNOW THE COURSE, SO I'LL PILOT, JENNY. MIND?
I SHOULD SAY NOT! IT'LL BE LIKE OLD TIMES BACK IN AIRDALE--KINDA. LET'S GO!

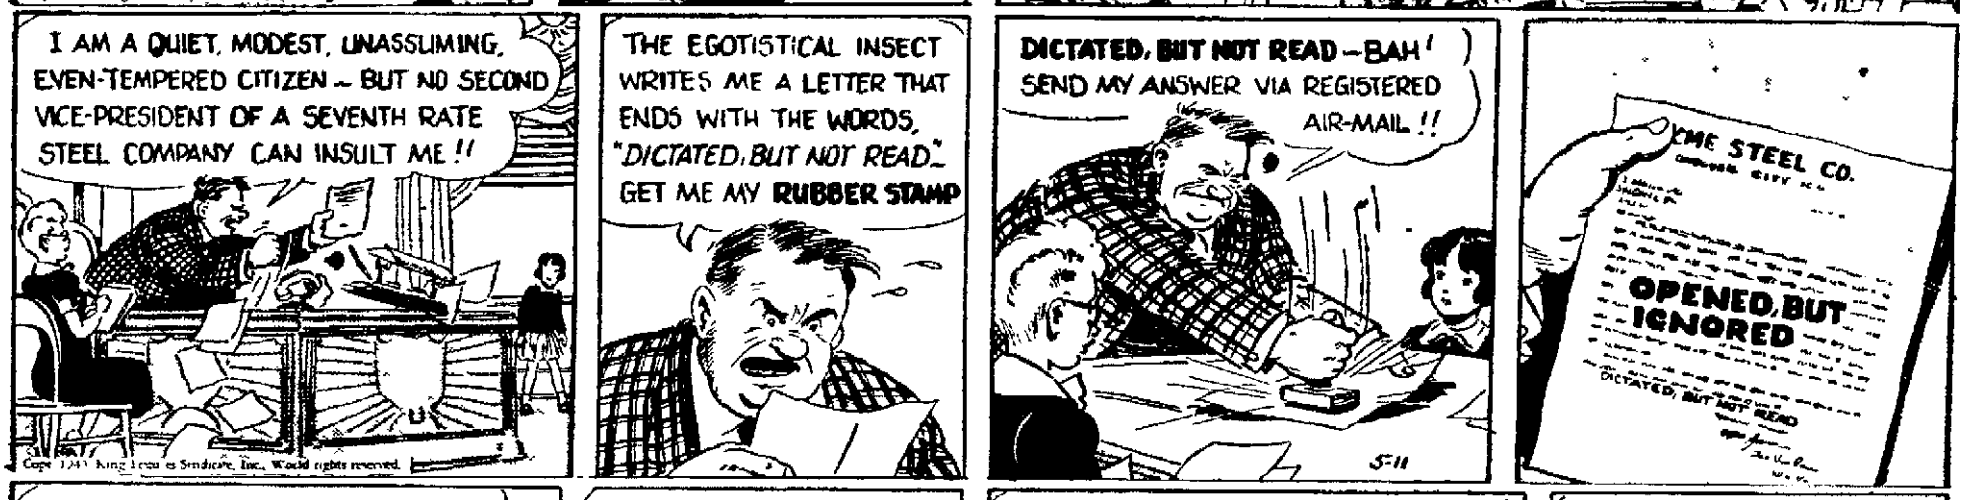
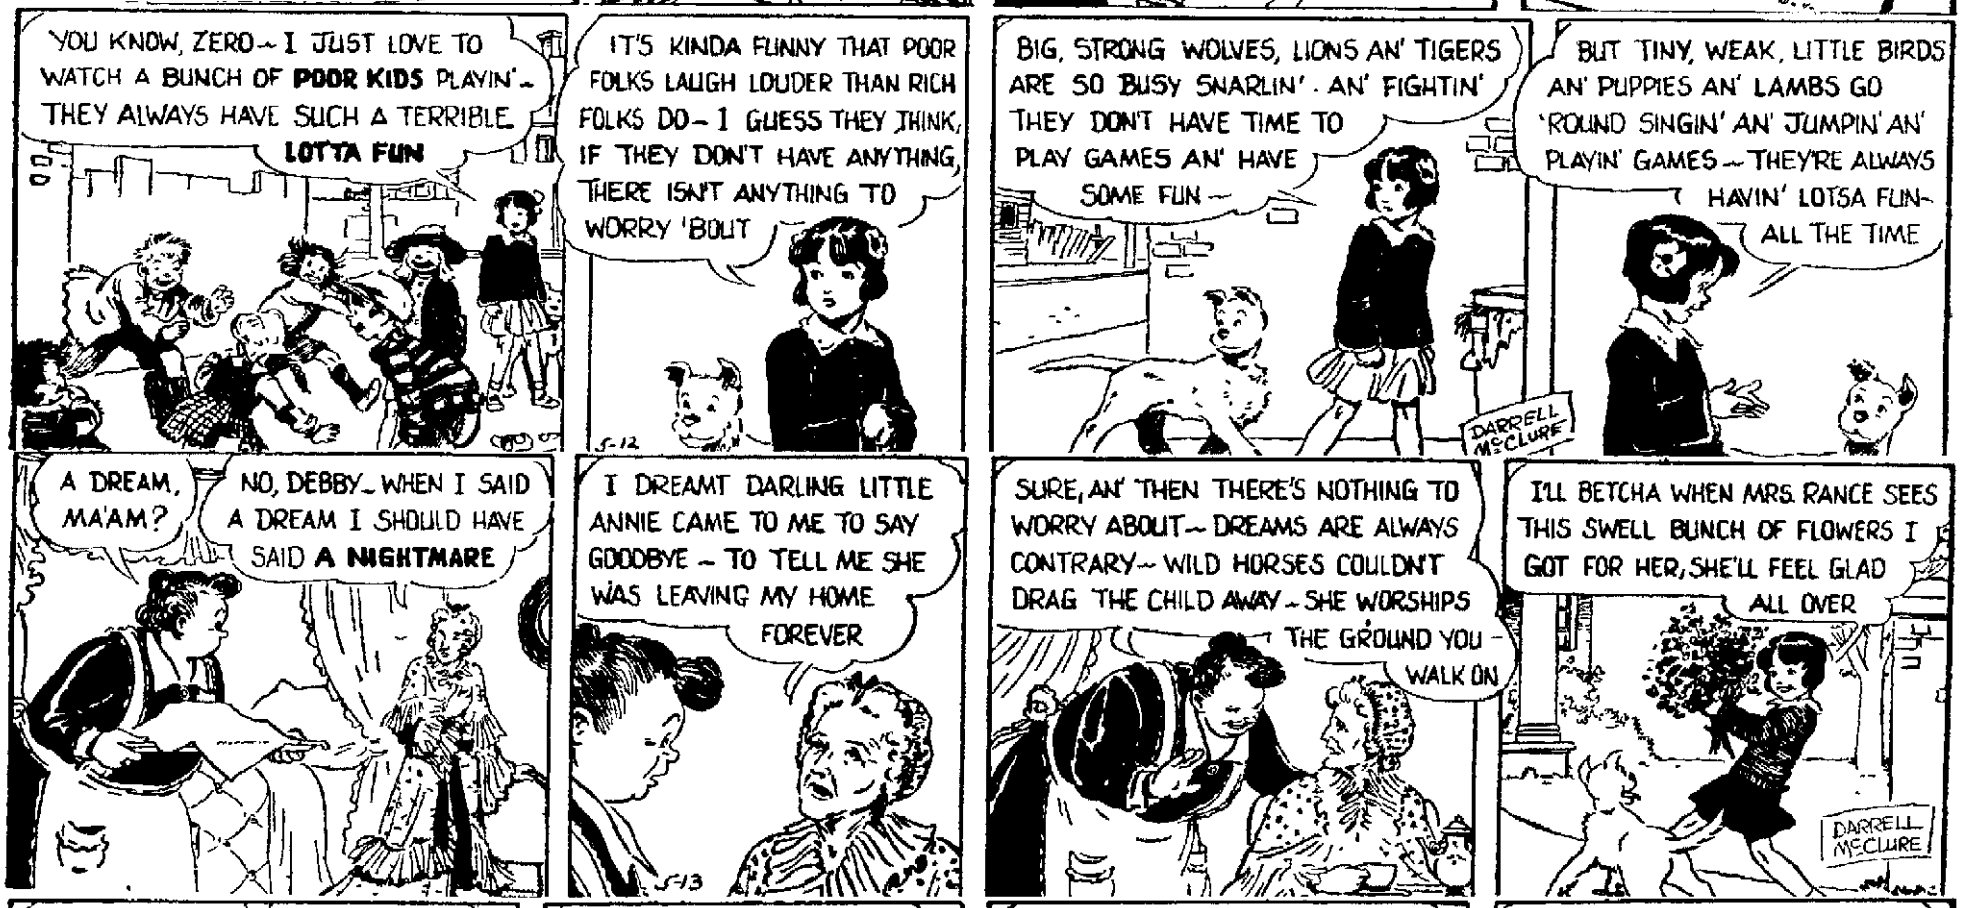
HONEST, ZERO- I GUESS I'M THE LUCKIEST KID IN THE WHOLE WORLD! LAST WEEK CLARA'S MOTHER WAS MAD AT ME-
SHE WOULDN'T LET CLARA AND BOBBY PLAY WITH ME, 'CAUSE I WAS JUST AN ORPHAN - BUT YESTERDAY SHE TOLD 'EM THEY COULD PLAY WITH ME - GEE, BUT IT'S GRAND!
5-10
YES, CHILDREN - YOU MAY PLAY WITH THE LITTLE CREATURE - YOUR FATHER LACKS ALL SENSE OF SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY -
DARRELL McCLURE
HE BELIEVES CULTURAL ENVIRONMENT IS NOT IMPORTANT - THAT THE CITY DIRECTORY IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE BLUE BOOK

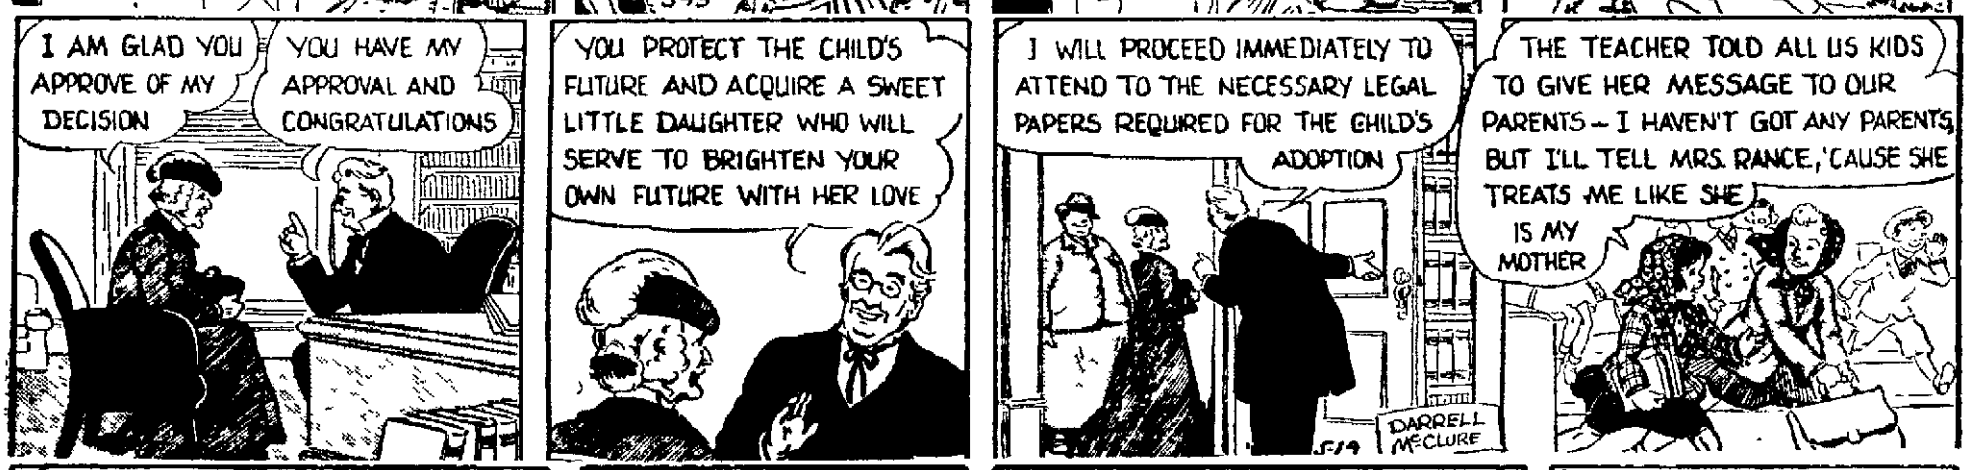


I AM A QUIET, MODEST, UNASSUMING, EVEN-TEMPERED CITIZEN - BUT NO SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT OF A SEVENTH RATE STEEL COMPANY CAN INSULT ME!!
THE EGOTISTICAL INSECT WRITES ME A LETTER THAT ENDS WITH THE WORDS, "DICTATED, BUT NOT READ" - GET ME MY RUBBER STAMP
DICTATED, BUT NOT READ - BAH! SEND MY ANSWER VIA REGISTERED AIR-MAIL!!
5-11
ME STEEL CO.
OPENED, BUT IGNORED
DICTATED, BUT NOT READ



YOU KNOW, ZERO - I JUST LOVE TO WATCH A BUNCH OF POOR KIDS PLAYIN' - THEY ALWAYS HAVE SUCH A TERRIBLE LOTTA FUN
IT'S KINDA FUNNY THAT POOR FOLKS LAUGH LOUDER THAN RICH FOLKS DO - I GUESS THEY THINK, IF THEY DON'T HAVE ANYTHING, THERE ISN'T ANYTHING TO WORRY 'BOUT
5-12
BIG, STRONG WOLVES, LIONS AN' TIGERS ARE SO BUSY SNARLIN' AN' FIGHTIN' THEY DON'T HAVE TIME TO PLAY GAMES AN' HAVE SOME FUN -
DARRELL McCLURE
BUT TINY, WEAK, LITTLE BIRDS AN' PUPPIES AN' LAMBS GO 'ROUND SINGIN' AN' JUMPIN' AN' PLAYIN' GAMES - THEY'RE ALWAYS HAVIN' LOTSA FUN - ALL THE TIME

A DREAM, MA'AM?
NO, DEBBY - WHEN I SAID A DREAM I SHOULD HAVE SAID A NIGHTMARE
I DREAMT DARLING LITTLE ANNIE CAME TO ME TO SAY GOODBYE - TO TELL ME SHE WAS LEAVING MY HOME FOREVER
5-13
SURE, AN' THEN THERE'S NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT - DREAMS ARE ALWAYS CONTRARY - WILD HORSES COULDN'T DRAG THE CHILD AWAY - SHE WORSHIPS THE GROUND YOU WALK ON
I'LL BETCHA WHEN MRS. RANCE SEES THIS SWELL BUNCH OF FLOWERS I GOT FOR HER, SHE'LL FEEL GLAD ALL OVER
DARRELL McCLURE



I AM GLAD YOU APPROVE OF MY DECISION
YOU HAVE MY APPROVAL AND CONGRATULATIONS
YOU PROTECT THE CHILD'S FUTURE AND ACQUIRE A SWEET LITTLE DAUGHTER WHO WILL SERVE TO BRIGHTEN YOUR OWN FUTURE WITH HER LOVE
I WILL PROCEED IMMEDIATELY TO ATTEND TO THE NECESSARY LEGAL PAPERS REQUIRED FOR THE CHILD'S ADOPTION
5-14
DARRELL McCLURE
THE TEACHER TOLD ALL US KIDS TO GIVE HER MESSAGE TO OUR PARENTS - I HAVEN'T GOT ANY PARENTS, BUT I'LL TELL MRS. RANCE, 'CAUSE SHE TREATS ME LIKE SHE IS MY MOTHER

HERE'S A SWELL BUNCH OF FLOWERS I PICKED - THEY'RE ALL FRESH AN' DEWY - YOU TAKE 'EM AN' GIVE 'EM TO YOUR MOTHER
OH, NO - MOTHER WILL BE COMING OUT IN A MINUTE - YOU GIVE HER THE VIOLETS - I KNOW SHE'LL BE PLEASED - THEY SMELL LOVELY
EXCUSE ME - HERE ARE SOME VIOLETS I PICKED FOR YOU - LOOK - THEY'RE ALL FRESH AN' DEWY
GREAT HEAVENS, CHILD! DON'T LET THOSE SOGGY, WET FLOWERS RUIN MY NEW DRESS - HOW CAN YOU BE SO THOUGHTLESS?!

LET'S GO IN, BILL.
HEY, WHAT'S YOUR HURRY, MISTER?
D'YA GET A WHIFF OF THE GUY THAT JUST BREEZED OUT? WHEW! SMELLED LIKE A BARBER SHOP!
5-10
BUT GET A LOAD OF THIS — THAT FANCY PANTS OFFERED ME TWENTY THOUSAND BUCKS FOR THIS BEANERY!
YES, THE GUY WHO JUST LEFT OFFERED ME TWENTY GRAND FOR THIS LUNCH-CAR ... I TOLD HIM TO SHOW ME CASH, FIRST! OH-OH! HERE COMES THE NIGHT SHIFT!
BE SEEING YOU, MINNIE!
SAY, X-9 — IT LOOKS LIKE SOMEONE ELSE IS AFTER THE HALF-MILLION BUCKS HIDDEN IN THAT DINER!
A GOOD SIGN THAT THE MONEY IS HIDDEN THERE!
5-11
LATER
OKAY, BILL — MINNIE'S CLOSED! NOW LET'S SEE WHAT WE CAN FIND!
X-9 AND BILL ARE TRYING TO FIND A HALF-MILLION DOLLARS IN STOLEN CASH HIDDEN IN A FORMER RAIL-ROAD DINER...
SOUNDS HOLLOW HERE, BILL. HAND ME THAT CHISEL!
THERE'S SOMETHING INSIDE.. FEELS LIKE A LEATHER CASE OF SOME-SORT!
WOW! LOOK AT THAT WAMPUM!
DUKE CHARLES WASN'T STRINGING US — HE REALLY HID — HEY, WHAT WAS THAT?
MEL GRAFF
WITHOUT A WORD, THE GUNMAN FORCES X-9 AND BILL INTO A SMALL SUPPLY CLOSET IN THE DINER.....
DO AS HE WANTS, BILL! COME ON ..SLIPS THE MONEY UNDER HIS COAT.
5-13
. AND FLEES!
WHY DIDN'T YOU LET ME SOCK HIM, X-9?
AND GET SHOT? BY THE WAY — I KNOW WHO THAT IS! HE'S THE SAME PERSON WHO MURDERED JUDGE DEEDS!
YOU — YOU KNOW WHO THAT GUY IS! THE ONE THAT JUST LIFTED THE HALF-MILLION BUCKS — AND LOCKED US IN HERE?
RIGHT, BILL!
WELL, WHO IN THUNDER IS IT?
I'LL JUST GIVE YOU A HINT, FOR NOW REMEMBER — HE DIDN'T SPEAK ONE WORD ..
I'M STILL IN A FOG ... YOU MEAN THE GUY'S A MUTE?
NO MORE CLUES, BILL! ..THERE, I'VE 'GOT THIS LOCK OPEN!
... OPERATOR? GET ME LONG-DISTANCE!
BELINDA? THIS IS X-9.. YES, SORRY TO CALL AT THIS HOUR... HOW ARE THINGS AT THE FARM? ANY TROUBLE WITH DUKE CHARLES?
NONE AT ALL, X-9! HE'S BEEN A REAL HELP TO DAD. . I ASKED MISS FRAME TO COME, TOO!
OH ... SWELL! DON'T SAY I CALLED. 'BYE.
WE'RE ON THE RIGHT TRACK, BILL! WE'RE GOING UP TO BELINDA'S DAD'S FARM!
GOOD! TO SEE DUKE CHARLES?
YES ... I WANT TO HAVE ANOTHER TALK WITH HIM!
YOU WERE SMART TO LET HIM THINK YOU DIDN'T SUSPECT HIM!

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

STOCKHOLM—Much thought is being given here to the exploitation of postwar trade, with every prospect that Sweden's current prosperity will rise sharply at the end of the war. This, incidentally, is the subject of much bitter feeling on the part of the neighbor Norwegians, who are suffering so excruciatingly under the Nazi occupation.

Not all of this is Sweden's doing. For other nations, recognizing that Sweden will be in shape to deliver goods quickly at the end of the war, are therefore looking to her for supplies. For instance, the Russians have brought some propositions to the Swedes. At the end of the war it will be simple for Sweden to send goods to Russia by water across the Baltic to Leningrad.

Clapper

The Swedes have an enormous shipping fleet. There are still more than 2000 ships totaling a million and a quarter tons, after a war loss of nearly half a million tons. They have half a dozen tankers inside the blockade which will be ready for use at the end of the war. Half of Sweden's shipping is outside the blockade, half inside.

• • •

It is particularly desirable that Swedish-Russian trade relations should develop, because they would help ease political situations in the north. The Swedes are inclined to be quite anti-Russian. This does not mean that they are pro-Nazi, but they are fearful of having Russia too close as a neighbor, although there are no indications that Russia is going to try to take over all of Finland and thus come up to the Swedish border.

Whatever one feels about Communism, we must realize that we will have to find a way to get along with Russia. With Allied victory Russia is going to be powerful, and the question is whether other nations are going to try to work out a relationship or repeat the blunder after the last war of trying to ignore Russia and even trying to break her down.

Sweden, like America, in its difficulties with the Russian problem must overcome prejudices and suspicions. In Sweden's case the development of free trade relations with Russia after the war would be helpful politically as well as economically.

• • •

Sweden may be in for some disappointment in so far as some here are inclined to overrate her opportunity for political leadership. The neutrals are not going to have much political force after this war. Norwegians comment bitterly on Sweden's ambitions. Sweden's reply, as expressed in an editorial in The Dagen Nyheter, is that no rational European order can be promoted by excluding neutral states.

Incidentally, the Swedish government is under some criticism locally because of the difficulty of persuading the Nazis to grant Swedish business men transit visas across Germany to attend the Basel Trade Fair. The criticism is made that Germany receives so many trade advantages from Sweden that she should permit this transit travel.

This incident illustrates the troubles of a neutral, for the Swedish government in the face of much domestic criticism continues to allow German troops to travel to and from Norway across Sweden, but cannot send Swedish business men across Germany on a peaceful trade-fair trip to Switzerland.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

TUCSON - Within the next few weeks I shall develop details of a conspiracy of the Communist fifth column to take over the American merchant marine and the Atlantic and gulf ports of the United States in addition to the Pacific ports which already have been conquered by Harry Bridges, the Australian Communist. This is just an outline.

The National Maritime union is trying to get custody of the guns on the merchant vessels and the training of merchant sailors. The union also is trying to chase the Longshoremen's union of the American Federation of Labor off the east coast and the gulf and move Bridges in with his Communist-front west coast organization. The AFL union is very bad. It charges outrageous fees and dues and has otherwise lost the confidence of the men. That it can reform now is doubtful for there are many ignorant, brutal crooks in certain important locals, who regard unionism only as a racket.

Pegler

At the same time Communist groups are trying to plant their own "intellectuals" in offices of various government agencies in Washington and New York having to do with the merchant marine. Some fellow-travelers already have been given jobs and recently an official of the union was given a post in the department of labor.

The union is conducting a strong propaganda campaign on government officials and congressmen to dissuade the government from training sailors for jobs on the merchant ships, fearing that a lot of genuine American youngsters would refuse to accept Communist leadership and doctrine and would dilute the union's power on board the boats which is now so great that ship captains are constantly heckled by Communist and delegates at sea and in port. It is also trying to seduce the navy sailors of the gun crews, whose pay is very small by comparison with the tremendous wages, bonuses and allowances paid to merchant sailors with civilian status whose risks, however, are no greater.

The union program is to give the enlisted navy sailors food out of the crew's mess; to invite them to use the crew's library of Communist literature, and to take up collections among the crews when they are paid off and hand the money to the enlisted sailors as charity so as to make them dissatisfied with the navy pay, sullen against their government and grateful to the union.

The Communists have been working on the enlisted gunners ever since they were put aboard the ships but the young commissioned officers, most of them reserves with little seagoing experience, have been having a trying time. They have no authority over the civilian Communists and are subject to glancing insults from them for which they have no redress. It is useless for a young ensign or lieutenant to complain to the civilian captain of a merchant vessel that a sailor or steward has made sneering remarks about his uniform because the captain would have a committee down on him by the next watch if he tried to do anything.

The Communist quality of this union is unmistakable. Up to June 22, 1941, when Hitler attacked Russia, it was one of the most violent opponents of every effort of the United States to arm for defense. It fought conscription; it fought the government's program to train new merchant sailors; it fought lend-lease, it called all advocates of rearmament, including President Roosevelt, warmongers and fascists and it organized gangs composed mainly of foreign-born New York Communists to parade under banners reading "The Yanks aren't coming" and "Don't turn our liners into troopships."

It changed abruptly after June 22, 1941, demanding immediate aid to Russia and more recently it has been demanding a second front manned by American soldiers in Europe, although Joseph Curran and other key officers of the union have asked for and received deferment.

The union is looking to a postwar period in which it will not merely man the ships but command them, with the officers reduced to the status of foremen and if the American government gives in to the demand that union sailors be given training in gunnery and custody of the weapons and ammunition, the American merchant marine will be a Communist fleet.

JEFFERS RUBBER REPORT BLENDS CAUTION, CHEER

Program In 'Good Shape' But Non-Essential Drivers Will Still Lack Tires.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Rubber Director William M. Jeffers reported today that 30,000,000 new tires will be produced in 1944 but that non-essential motorists cannot expect new tires for a long time.

"The rubber problem," he said in his third progress report, "is a long way toward solution, and we are every day nearer to the time when we can put the construction of rubber plants, as a problem, behind us.

"In short, while the rubber program is not yet solved, it is in the best shape it has ever been."

He said that 30,000,000 new tires is the probable minimum replacement program that the country can get by with next year and that this figure forecasts retention of present conservation measures, maintenance of present driving speeds and general recapping.

The rubber crisis, he said, will come in the next four to six months, during which time most of the synthetic plants will have been built and turned over to operators "who will be held strictly accountable for performance."

Jeffers' report was a blend of optimism and caution. The time is near, he said, when construction of rubber plants no longer will be a problem. But, he added, every American must realize that except for essentials, rubber cannot become a general available commodity for a long time and conservation must continue.

High-lights of the report:

The rubber construction program in the United States and Canada has a rated capacity of 850,000 long tons annually, or 79 per cent of the original recommendations made by the Baruch committee.

All synthetic rubber plants will be in production in 1944. They will produce 750,000 long tons next year when it is expected that at least 74,000 tons of new crude exports will be available.

The United States-Canada rubber stockpile at the end of 1943 will be 142,000 tons, or about 40,000 tons above the minimum recommended by the Baruch committee.

DIES AT HOME

Chalmer G. Shauck, 60, Succumbs After Long Illness.

Chalmer G. Shauck, 60, Madison township farmer and dairy operator, died at his home on the West Fourth street road Sunday following a lingering illness.

Born in Mansfield, Oct. 29, 1882, Mr. Shauck lived for a number of years in Charlotte, N. C., where he was a photographer. He returned to Mansfield to operate the Shauck Dairy.

He is survived by his widow, Nettie Condon; three sons, Maxwell E. Shauck, Cleveland; Robert Lee Shauck, with the United States navy; and Richard C. Shauck, at home, and one brother, Eustace Shauck, Mansfield.

WARNS AGAIN ON SABOTEUR PERIL

OWI Says Nation Should Be On Guard Against New Spy Invasion.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The approach of the first anniversary of the landing of eight Nazi saboteurs in the United States today led the Office of War Information to warn that a new crop of trained saboteurs soon would be graduated in Berlin and possibly sent to this country.

The OWI said that every citizen must consider himself an individual "listening post" for the Federal Bureau of Investigation whose director, J. Edgar Hoover, said that the need for citizen cooperation in combatting underground forces was never greater. Hoover said every bit of information received from citizens is helpful.

The eight Nazi saboteurs who were caught shortly after they landed from submarines off the Long island and Florida coasts last summer were graduates of the sabotage school operated by the German high command.

The OWI quoted Hoover as saying that more than a score of saboteurs now being trained at that school will be sent to all parts of the world.

"Some of these Nazi agents will try to enter the United States," he said. "We must, therefore, be on guard."

Presumably many score highly-trained graduates of the school have been sent afield by the German high command in the past year, but FBI officials said that there is no evidence that any have landed on American soil.

BREAK WINDOWS AT MOVIE, HOME

Parents Agree To Pay Damages; Court Investigates Case.

Two cases in which small boys were blamed for breaking windows were reported to Mansfield police over the week-end.

R. L. Miller, manager of the Majestic theater, said the glass in a display case in front of the theater was broken by several boys during a scuffle. Parents of the children agreed to pay for the damage, the report said.

Thomas Carpenter, 211 Spring street, told officers several small children had thrown stones through a window at his home. The case was turned over to juvenile authorities for investigation.

Teachers at Newman school hope to add to the spirit of the school's sale of war stamps during the next two weeks through a contest in which the pupils on the first floor will vie with second floor pupils. The floor selling the most stamps will be feted with a party by the losers. Booths have been set up on both floors and the sales were "rushing" this morning, according to Principal Jesse Beer. Miss Marie Hoover, teacher in the school, is in charge of the contest.

H. A. (Ziggy) Giesige, Mansfield printer, is having his troubles with his victory garden, by his own account. First Mrs. Giesige, not knowing he had planted a cabbage bed, dug up the cabbage which was just coming through the ground, and planted lettuce. Then he put out some cabbage plants. The rabbits got those. A small bed of tomato plants was the next victim. Fearing a frost he covered the tomatoes with burlap sacks. His hound dog saw the operation, thought Ziggy was making a bed for him, and slept that night in the tomatoes. Ziggy is in the market for a can opener.

It used to be bad enough to lose a purse containing $10 in folding money and some spare change, but now it's a lot worse as Mrs. J. D. Middlebrook, 564 Lily street, can tell you. She went into a Main street restaurant Saturday to use the telephone and left her blue leather purse containing the money lying beside the phone when she walked out. When she discovered her loss and returned to the store the purse was gone, she told Mansfield police. She added: "And I had 10 war ration books in the purse, too—mine and my children's!"

SHERWOOD GIVEN PAROLE POSITION

Welfare Director Named To New Job By Bricker; He Takes Salary Cut.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Governor Bricker today appointed State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood to a six-year term as a member of the state pardon and parole commission, effective June 15.

Sherwood will receive $6,000 a year in his new position, $500 less than he is getting as welfare director. Sherwood has been in ill health and his new duties will be less rigorous than those of the welfare director.

Sherwood, who hails from Fremont and who has been welfare director since Bricker took office, served also as assistant welfare director under Gov. Myers Y. Cooper.

On the parole commission, he will succeed Judge Harrison W. Jewell, of Delaware, who was appointed by Former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Bricker named no one to succeed Sherwood as welfare director, but said he expected to appoint a new director before Sherwood shifts jobs on June 15. Assistant Welfare Director Herbert Mooney has been mentioned as a likely successor to Sherwood, although it was reported Mooney "was not particularly interested in the job."

FINED $100 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Mt. Vernon Man Pleads Guilty to Illegal Transporting.

After entering a plea of guilty to charges of transporting liquor illegally, Antonio E. Antoniadis, of Mt. Vernon, was fined $100 and costs in Municipal court this morning by Judge H. H. Schettler.

Antoniadis paid his fine promptly and was released. He was arrested Friday on West Sixth street. Police said he was transporting nine fifths of whisky on which the Ohio tax had not been paid. The arrest was one of several made in co-operation with state liquor inspectors. Other cases were disposed of last week.

Forfeiting bond by failure to appear in municipal court this morning was Joseph D. Inman, jr., Memphis, Tenn., who was arrested over the week-end by city patrolmen on charges of driving with insufficient lights.

DEATH CLAIMS GEORGE PATTON

Former Caretaker At Memorial Building Succumbs.

George Patton, sr., former caretaker of the Memorial building on Park avenue west, died Sunday afternoon at Mansfield General hospital. He lived at 116½ North Main street.

He is survived by one son, George, jr., stationed with the United States army at Alexandria, La., who is expected to arrive in Mansfield Tuesday.

The body was taken to the Jones Memorial. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

WOMAN INJURED

Suffers Head Injuries When Car Hits Brick Wall.

Mrs. Richard Renz, 137 Kentucky avenue, Lincoln Heights, suffered the only serious injury as a result of traffic accidents in Mansfield over the week-end.

Her head was cut and bruised when the car in which she was riding with her husband, collided with a brick wall at the intersection of North Adams and Orange streets early Sunday, police reports said.

DELEGATES TO FOOD SESSIONS ARRIVE AT SPA

Hot Springs Conference Opens Tomorrow With 45 Nations Joining In Talks.

(By International News Service)

HOT SPRINGS, Va.—Delegates of 45 nations united by war arrive at this famous Spa today to test their machinery of international co-operation for the first time on a postwar problem—food production and distribution.

In an atmosphere of secrecy enhanced by an armed guard of 200 soldiers, chairmen of all delegations to the United Nations food conference meet tomorrow morning as an executive committee to set up preliminary organizations for their two and a half weeks of discussion.

Tomorrow night in the Homestead hotel—now bereft of its regular guests the conference formally opens with a plenary session for some 400 delegates and advisors, one of two meetings the press will be permitted to attend.

At this time the delegates will pass on nominations for permanent conference officers. Judge Marvin Jones, assistant to Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes and Chairman of the U. S. Delegation, is expected to have his temporary chairmanship of the conference made permanent.

Emphasized throughout the formal advance announcements is the fact that, despite the presidentially-ordained secrecy, no final recommendations on food problems are to be reached. The conference, it is pointed out, begins with "an effort to ascertain the needs" will "explore the measures" to enhance food production and distribution and then recommend means of continuing the studies.

At this first attempt to bring the United Nations together on but one phase of the vast postwar economy outlook, spokesmen candidly warned against expecting any world-shaking decisions.

The food and agricultural products conference will take up four main subjects:

1. Consumption levels and requirements.
2. Expansion of production and adaptation to consumption needs.
3. Facilitation and improvement of distribution.
4. Recommendation for continuing and carrying forward the work of the conference.

The question of war or postwar relief is not involved in the agenda.

ILL 5 MONTHS

Mrs. Edna Hollinger, 40, Taken By Death; Rites Tuesday.

Mrs. Edna Hollinger, 40, of Mansfield R. D. 3, died Sunday at Mansfield General hospital after an illness of five months.

Born in Mansfield, April 29, 1903, she spent her entire life here. She was a member of Gospel Center church.

Surviving are her husband, George A. Hollinger; two sons George, jr., and Glenn C.; one daughter, Mrs. Willard Johnson; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bonin, sr.; three brothers, Louis, jr., Charles and Robert Bonin; two sisters, Mrs. Herbert Long and Mrs. Willis Byerly, all of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. S. R. Parrett, pastor of Gospel Center church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Sir Archibald called the RAF attack on Germany last night "a trenchant blow for victory of the Allies."

He electrified the crowd by say-ng:

"I have got news—great news -for you today. The bomber com-nand—the javelin in our armory -struck last night heavy blows f a new kind at the sources of ierman war power."

The minister praised the bomb-r command staff and "those uperbly daring and skillful crews 'ho smote the Germans so heav-y last night."

The raids last night marked the ifth successive night of attacks gainst continental targets by ritain-based squadrons which, ith North African forces, are losing upon the Axis in an aerial incer movement. The attack went nto its sixth day today, with ve enemy aircraft reported de-troyed during Allied attacks on ie continent this morning.

Nine bombers and one fighter of the forces based in England were declared missing from the night's operations, which also included extensive fighter plane operations against occupied territory.

It was the third raid on Berlin i four nights. There was no im-iediate indication just how heavy unday night's raid was, but the aids last Thursday and again on aturday, by speedy Royal Air orce Mosquito planes, were diver-on assaults in connection with ther heavy forays.

The German radio announced orthern, central and western ermany were the RAF's targets st night and four RAF planes ere claimed shot down.

The current air offensive, unched with the heavy raid on uisburg last Wednesday night, as followed by record-breaking merican smashes on successive ays at Meaulte and St. Omer, iel and Antwerp, and Emden. British bombers blasting at ochum, Berlin and Czechoslo-akia; and by continued strafing targets in France and the low-nds.

In retaliation, the Germans struck back during the night with their heaviest attack on London since last February but heir assaults — which caused hree alerts in 4½ hours—did ot come up to the "Coventry" ype with which they belabored Britain in 1940 and 1941.

Suburban London districts suf-red most heavily from the at-cks. The German planes, be-ved to have been fighter-bomb-s, came over singly and in pairs. Four of the high-flying bomber-ghters which made three swift abs at the capital were downed by the tight British defenses, but it was reliably estimated that not more than 20 enemy planes crossed the coast. The engagement represented a 20 per cent loss for the attacking force.

Allied fighter planes swept Axis shipping along the French coast yesterday. In raids Saturday night railway lines were the principal targets in western Germany, France, Holland and Belgium.

The American bombing of Emden Saturday saw the largest German-bound U. S. air force in this war go out on the mission. A loss of six American bombers was announced.

Big Red Guns Harass German Movements

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Red army employed planes and artillery to good effect in further harrassing German preparations for any new offensive as another week of the war opened today with still no definite sign of the expected great summer campaign.

During the past week the Soviet air force spread fires and explosions in raids behind the German lines along almost the entire length of the long Russian front.

The midnight communique said Red airmen had destroyed 1,300 German planes in combat and on airdromes during the last two weeks while losing 339, better than a three-to-one Soviet advantage.

Soviet dispatches told of artillery attacks all the way from the Kuban to the Baltic sea in which German pillboxes were destroyed.

May 12, and succeeded in moving inland and attacking Japanese positions only to be driven back to the beach that night.

A pitched battle is now in progress, Yahagi said, between Japanese troops and another American force which landed simultaneously on the northern coast.

The third American force, which attempted to land on the east coast, was "completely annihilated" on the beach, Yahagi was quoted as saying.

There was no confirmation of this Japanese version of the campaign from any American source. Official sources in Washington maintained silence on the progress of the fighting, although Navy Secretary Frank Knox said several days ago that the battle was "progressing satisfactorily."

Yahagi also was quoted as alleging in the Tokyo broadcast that American troops had resorted to poison gas on May 14 and 15 in an attempt to dislodge the Japanese.

He declared, however, the Japanese "have not retaliated."

A short distance off the island eight Germans and two Italian girls who had attempted to escape to Sicily in a small barge were picked up. The Germans were rowing the barge with garden spades.

(The Italian high command said in a communique broadcast by the Rome radio that bombs were dropped "over the Ostia area" and there was some damage and some casualties. The raiders were declared to have flown over Rome.

Two Axis planes were reported shot down by coastal patrols.

Confirming a report made yesterday by the Italian high command, the communique said Wellingtons attacked the Sicilian port of Trapani Saturday night.

"A large explosion was observed and many bursts were seen on the various targets, the communique said.

From all operations, three Allied aircraft were reported missing.

Allied air patrols maintained a ceaseless vigil today over the Mediterranean seaway separating the triumphant Allied armies in Tunisia from their next goal — a foothold in Axis Europe.

British, American and French land troops meantime kept doggedly at their task of salvaging captured enemy equipment and storing their field supplies of ammunition, while the job of classifying tens of thousands of German and Italian prisoners continued.

Palermo, Sicilian port which was the May 9 target for a force of 400 American bombers, was showered again Friday night with explosions and incendiaries by Wellington bombers that wrecked the few remaining objectives, the Sunday Allied communique said.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters, meanwhile, reported that in the 46 day period ending May 6, some 38,000,000 rounds of ammunition were expended—including 300 different types of ammunition used by the ground forces and 220 types used by the air forces.

The German Gestapo and army officers have returned already, and there are unmistakable signs the army will follow shortly, the newspapers said.)

Italy's fleet still is potent, with six or eight battleships, heavy and light cruisers and 50 to 60 destroyers. But it would be highly vulnerable to air attack by superior Allied forces based on North Africa or on Sicily and Sardinia should those island outposts be overrun.

The most serious threat to Italian land forces, Die Nation said, consists of air attacks on the transportation network in upper and central Italy.

FUNERAL SET

Rites For Frank Williams To Be Conducted Wednesday.

Costs Him $7 In Nickels, Finally Girl Says 'Yes'

NEW YORK — (INS) — It cost seven bucks' worth of nickels but the one and only girl had said "yes" to Private Marvin Rubin today.

Marvin entered a phone booth at 11 a. m., yesterday and called Beatrice Brown who lives just five blocks away. They have been engaged since April and Rubin asked Beatrice, "if she would marry me now." Beatrice said, "No," she thought they would wait until after the war ended.

Eleven hours later, Marvin put his 140th nickel in the slot and repeated his question.

This time Beatrice said: "All right, Marvin, I will marry you, I am worn out." Marvin ran the five blocks to Beatrice's home and it was decided they would be wed the second week of July.

He had phoned her every five minutes during the eleven-hour stretch and neither had eaten during the entire ordeal.

During the first 16 days of May last year the rainfall was 1.98 inches. With last night's storm, the precipitation this month totals 4.36. It has rained on 11 days this month.

Some Mansfield streets were temporarily flooded during last evening's rain, but there was no report of serious damage from either water or wind in the city.

Wind-blown debris littered some county roads, particularly in the Troy township area.

At Lucas the Rocky Fork and Clear Fork streams and Minnow creek were reported out of their banks. The rising water was believed to have caused some crop damage.

Elsewhere in the state Toledo told of a series of windstorms which felled large trees, damaged automobiles, and knocked down utility poles. A five block area was flooded when wind forced Lake Erie waters through 50-foot breaks in the dike near Reno Beach, a Toledo suburb.

Mansfield temperatures yesterday were high 79, low 57 with an 18-year average of 59.1. The temperature at noon was 59.

More thunderstorms are forecast for today.

USE MAILS

A Gas Book Holders Can Renew Them Through Postman.

Motorists will be allowed to renew their "A" gasoline rationing books by mail, the Office of Price Administration announced in Washington today. Renewals of "D" coupon books for motorcycles also will be handled by mail.

Announcing adoption of this system, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said it is intended to save the public time and trouble by eliminating the necessity of another registration at school or ration board sites. Mail distribution previously had been ordered for issuance of war ration book No. 3 and for renewal of fuel oil rations.

Except in eastern states, the "A" ration books will expire July 21. In the east, "A-5" coupons must last for four months instead of two as elsewhere.

The mail renewal plan does not apply to supplementary gasoline rations, that is the "B" and "C" books.

AFRICAN VICTORY SEASONS YANKS

They're Tough d They Know It, Anxious For Another Crack at Germans.

ness. For the next seven days the battle cry seemed to be, "We've got those guys on the run. Now let's get the ——s."

Every last man at the front feels he personally has won a curtain-raiser and is ready for the final championship bout with full confidence in his ability to trade punches on equal terms with any opponent, whether German, Italian or Japanese and win.

The last seven days of the campaign probably were the toughest the Yanks have had in Africa. For two days it rained continuously. We got only two or three hours sleep a day, and that under the heaviest artillery and mortar fire the Germans produced during the entire campaign.

It was not until it was all over that we learned the Germans had had orders to fight it out to their last shell and last cartridge. The fox holes were water-filled because of the rain and impossible to sleep in. At night the Germans sent over bombers which dropped flares and bombs in an effort to find our artillery which fired day and night to start off a tank or infantry attack.

At that time the doughboys didn't know it was the beginning of the end. They didn't complain of seven straight days without sleep, of the cold "C" ration, of the lack of cigarets and of the fact that water was rationed at one pint per man each day.

There were no sanitation facilities, and disease might have spread if the campaign had continued much longer under such conditions.

It was surprising how few complaints there were. Usually, the Yanks passed off such inconveniences with wisecracks such as "Bet you a thousand francs I live to water your grave!"

When the first American half track rumbled into Ferryville and the populace turned out and cheered and flung flowers at one infantry division, the commanding general told me "These last few days have been the making of our boys. I know all the boys in my division are battle-hardened now and ready for the next jump-off. They don't know where it will be, but they've got it in their minds now that they can lick the Germans, and if we're going to win the war that's the idea we have to have.

"Of course we've had casualties but my boys now are in that psychological state where they can take it and realize it's just part of the game. Who knows, maybe we'll all get it, but we're not going to yell 'Ouch! Ouch!' until we get hurt."

begin with C and D will receive their books, Wednesday, E, F, and G; Thursday, H, I, and J; Friday, K and L, and Saturday all those from A through L whose cards were not obtained during the week. Those whose names come in the M to Z group will receive their cards next week.

Only persons who filed applications by midnight May 10 are eligible to receive ration cards for the first rationing period. Several were turned away today because their applications were filed late, Poling said.

Applicants must come in person for their ration cards and must present war ration book No. 2 along with proof of state citizenship, age and address according to the ruling of Don Fisher, state liquor director. Fisher said that no other means of identification other than the ration book No. 2 will be accepted. A hole will be punched in the book to prevent its reuse in the liquor rationing.

The task of issuing cards to some 1,300,000 Ohioans who registered for rationing, will be completed by the end of the month, the director said. Retail sales have been suspended until formal rationing starts June 1.

Liquor stores will operate eight hours a day after rationing starts on June 1. The exact hours of operation however have not been decided upon.

"The labor dispute in this case, like all other labor disputes, is within the jurisdiction of the National War Labor board under executive Order 9017 of Jan. 12, 1942, under the national policy of economic stabilization established by the act of congress of Oct. 2, 1942, and the president's executive order of Oct. 3 and its supplements, issued in accordance with that act of congress, if any wage adjustment is justifiable on the merits it must be approved by the National War Labor board; and if it is such as to require an increase in the price of the product produced, then it could not be put into effect until it is also approved by the director of economic stabilization.

"This law applies to the coal miners and coal operators as well as to every other citizen of the United States.

"In demanding a wage increase and at the same time refusing to seek the approval of the National War Labor Board, Mr. Lewis is defying the lawfully established procedures of the government of the United States.

"This is not only a defiance of our laws, but it is also the only thing that stands in the way of the working out of a new contract for the mine workers by orderly peaceful procedure in accordance with the order of the National War Labor Board of May 15, 1943 and the national stabilization policy under the act of congress of October 2, 1942.

"This defiance challenges the sovereignty of the United States in time of war and gives aid and comfort to our enemies."

Lewis declined to comment on the prospect of continued production after tomorrow night. The UMW chief denounced the WLB, said the coal dispute was outside its jurisdiction, and declared UMW representatives were ready to negotiate with the operators in New York.

The mines now are being operated under government control. They were seized by federal authority as a result of a walkout which preceded the 15-day truce. Since then, a three-man WLB panel has been studying the controversy. The UMW ignored invitations to send representatives to the panel's hearings.

CHAPTER X

The next five days were days pure enchantment for Lovey. She was transported to anher world. It was a world of limy airs and the gentle clickg of palm leaves, a world of hite frocks bright in the sunht and a blue sea rocking bend the shady pavilions and retched awnings of the shore. Chris had rented or been loaned delightfully luxurious beach use; two silent, efficient Filino servants apparently went th it; at all events the household machinery moved perfectly, d they were all free to entern or accept entertainment exctly as they pleased.

They went to the big studios d wandered through block afa block of half-built Normany lages and half-demolished Afrin jungles.

Chris took them to shops in verly Hills and Long Wilshire oulevard and brought Loveday white bag and a Panama hat d Nini a striped frock. The t lent a new glamour to everying for Loveday. It was simple enough, but she never had d such a hat.

Chris was, of course, the backound and inspiration for everying they did. Merle was in ockton with her family. Chris nt to the studio every morning t could usually join the group lunch and often in the afteron was free.

* * *

On the last mornnig, Chris took em to see the first shot of a ture that was being made. is was an extraordinary privige and a fit climax to the week wonders. They found themves, silent and awed, in seats it off a magnificent set that presented that baronial hally of an English manor house; e carved wide stairway ascendpast authentic stained-glass ndows; the walls were hung th make-believe canvases by ynolds, Leley, Lawrence. A y army of cameramen and dirtors, in an octopus tangle of ies and wires, swarmed about em; high up above the scene ier men hung and scuttled like ders; blasting hot lights shot wn in fierce tunnels of brilnce from every direction.

Coming slowly down the great irway in an exquisite glittergown was the beautiful Madee Carroll. To meet her at the t of the stairs, in impeccable ning attire, Basil Rathbone erged from a left-hand doorway. They addressed each other.

"Hello."

"Oh, hello."

"Where's Helen?"

"Isn't she down? Come into the library, anyway." After which they walked slowly toward the right.

That was all. It was interrupted by a shout of "Cut!" Then a long pause and much conversation, and the scene was repeated. Then long talk and the woman star's disappearance to her dressing room to have something done to her make-up.

Nini, Rodney, and Loveday walked through the fantastic setting of the studio grounds, found a taxi, went hungry and hot to one of the many restaurants that claimed to be the favorite of the stars. Everything was still all excitement, still all glamour, Loveday thought, a little dazed. But the shadow of ending was over it all.

Chris had said that he would join them for luncheon if he could; but they had had their jellied soup and had commenced upon soft-shelled crabs, and he did not come. It made it all seem rather flat. Loveday thought, in a strangely dispirited mood. Well, she had had so much; it had all been such fun; she ought only to be grateful and happy!

* * *

Dreamily, absently, she watched the brilliant scene. Beautiful girls streamed in; the headwaiter perspired over a list of reservations. Fans whirred overhead; waiters rushed to and from with trays balanced high above their heads. Nini identified a celebrity or two. "I wish Chris were here; he knows them all!" she grumbled.

Suddenly Loveday saw Chris, standing just outside the restaurant on the sidewalk, jamming papers into the pocket of his linen coat, talking hard to some square-bald-headed man whose back was toward the window.

Loveday's heart soared. Not for worlds would she have been the one to announce Christopher's arrival; she could not have said why; she must be the last to see him.

"Oh, here's Chris!" Nini exclaimed joyfully. Loveday managed a look of surprise and pleasure, everyone was looking at Chris, of course—the headwaiter and everyone else knew Chris—but Chris seemed to see none of it and he wiped his forehead, jammed his handkerchief back into a side pocket, and drew a long, satisfied breath.

"Whew! I didn't think I could make it! What are we having?"

He slipped into his place between the girls on the curved red leather wall seat, seized a bill of fare.

"Jellied Madrilene and soft-shelled crabs," Loveday supplied.

"Why not?" Chris said with a nod to summon the waiter.

"Chris, did you get the passes to Disney's?" His sister demanded.

"I did."

"But—but you have to go to Laguna?" Loveday asked in so doleful a tone that they all laughed.

"I may have to go. Bishop is to telephone me here at two. That and that," Chris said to the waiter, his brown thumb firm upon the bill of fare. "So now you want to go to Disney's?" he asked.

"No without you," Loveday said on a pleading note.

His odd, penetrating, unsmiling look was full upon her for a second.

"Thee is very kind, Loveday," he said then, his eyes twinkling.

"But—Disney's!" Nini put in on a wail.

"But the drive to Laguna would be lovely," Loveday persisted shyly.

"Well now I'll tell you," Chris said, pouring cream drop by drop into his iced coffee and watching it drift downward in a widening veil. "Why not have Rod take you girls out to Walt's place, and I'll wait here for Bishop's call? If I don't have to go to Laguna I'll join you right away. If I do you get out to the studio and wait for me. I'll be back by 4."

"We'll match to see who stays with you," Nini, who liked a gamble on any question, decided. "Rod, have you money? Wait a minute, I have plenty. Here, everyone take a quarter, and the pair stays."

"Let me get you, my gazelle-eyed Hibernian skylark," said Chris. "Odd man stays with me, eh?"

"But suppose it's Rod," Loveday said eagerly. "We wouldn't go out without him."

* * *

She looked up, quite unconscious of anything but the excitement of the game, caught Christopher's glance and shrank back, a little confused and puzzled. Why was he smiling at her today in that odd way?

It was only a second; the quarters were slapped down on the checked peasant tablecloth. Three hands were raised to show three flying silver eagles.

"All right, again!" Chris said. This time Nini and Rod revealed eagles, but Loveday's coin showed the tiny figure of Liberty. She felt the blood coming up into her cheeks and her throat dry, and it was with difficulty that she raised her eyes.

"You two get started. Take a taxi, Rod," Chris was saying in a businesslike tone. "We'll follow. Got plenty of money, Rod? On your way! We'll probably be right after you."

Nini hesitated, dissatisfied.

"We can't miss it!" she said. "But you'll go to Laguna," she added, suspicious without knowing what she suspected.

"Well, you can't do both at the same moment," Chris reminded her with a laugh. "But even if I go I'll be back by four. You'd better move, it's nearly 2 now, and it's quite a way out there."

Nini needed no other urging; she was made to get away.

"They'll let us in without you, Chris?"

"Of course they will!"

"That was the one thing Nini wanted to do, and she was terribly afraid she was going to miss it!" Loveday said amusedly when she and Chris were alone. She felt suddenly comfortable and happy; it was always easy to talk to Chris. Awnings over the sidewalk kept the restaurant shaded; big fans whirred lazily overhead, and underneath them the stir of pretty women coming and going, the tides of low chatter and laughter, the clink of silver and china went on.

"Why'd you pretend not to see me when I first came in here today?" Chris asked suddenly, watching her smilingly, not hearing what she was saying. Loveday's color rushed up.

"Why, did I—oh, why did I—oh," she stammered laughing, "I didn't know that you—I wasn't sure it was you, anyway—"

"You were darned sure!" Chris said lazily with another half-smile. "Well, come on, let's get on our way to Laguna!"

"But shouldn't you wait for Mr. Bishop to telephone?"

"He doesn't matter." Chris had paid the bill; the went out to the car. Loveday felt the whole warm, sleepy, early-afternoon world singing and shining as she got into the front seat beside him.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, MAY 17, 1943.

The strength of America can be a vital force; a beacon and an inspiration to all the world. America is fighting for total victory. Workers and employers are equally interested in victory and in what comes after it.—Thomas E. Dewey.

Public Money Is Non-Partisan

ANY EFFORT to make a political issue of the fact that a considerable surplus has been accumulating in Mansfield's city funds gives the impression of being far from a business-like approach to this matter, which is of very direct public interest.

Brought to attention through the report of a recent survey made by the research department of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, disclosure of a surplus in excess of $633,000 came as a surprise to the people of Mansfield and to various members of city council.

The position of Mayor Locke, as nearly as can be ascertained, is that a large part of the surplus will be required to meet post-war improvement needs of the city, although he has presented no clear-cut plans for such expenditures of public money and made no report of the accumulation of surpluses in various funds prior to the C. of C. survey.

Whatever surplus has been built up in city funds intended for general purposes, with a city tax rate among the lowest in municipalities of comparable size, the accomplishment has been at the expense of improvements, street, fire department, water and sewer upkeep, and other elements of legitimate public service.

Neglect in carrying through a consistent improvement and maintenance program is not fairly chargeable to any one short-lived political administration, but rather to the unbusiness-like method of placing inexperienced men in charge of municipal operations for two or four years and then changing to others equally inexperienced, who carry no responsibility beyond the term, or terms, to which they are elected.

What was needed twenty years ago—and is still needed—is an intelligently developed and carefully co-ordinated plan which takes into account the city's immediate and probable future requirements and which would not be subject to the whims or political maneuverings of changing administrations, executive and legislative.

Long-delayed rehabilitation of Mansfield's water supply and sewer line system probably stands topmost among requirements for considerable expenditure of public funds, and this cannot be much longer neglected without serious detriment, present and future.

Streets have been allowed to get into a deplorable condition of disrepair and need for USE of city funds, rather than storing up an unnecessarily large surplus, is quite evident to even casual observers.

There should be assurance, however, that expenditures of public money be carefully and economically made—with a view to civic betterment rather than to serve the interests of partisan politics.

Union Plans Garment Factory

FROM St. Louis comes an item to the effect that officers of the southwest region of the AFL garment workers' union are considering a plan to own and operate a dress factory after the war, patterning the co-operative "along general lines followed in Sweden."

An estimate places $50,000 as the initial need for capital investment.

Just why it is necessary to go as far as Sweden for a "pattern" in launching a business venture of this sort is not made clear, as the United States provides unlimited examples of how to start and operate such a business.

The prime requirements for success, as has often been demonstrated, are capital investment, capable management, competent and interested employes and public demand for the product.

Such a grouping of union members as is proposed would make no change in these requirements. There would be need for capital and managerial ability, just the same as in other operations, and participation in profits, whether as investors or workers, is the common practice of all successful business enterprises—with the largest share regularly and properly going to the workers.

"Capitalists" are nothing more than workers who have made investments out of thriftily saved earnings, thus becoming enabled to provide another of the essentials of industrial or business operation.

Each To His Liking

A CLERK in an Omaha drugstore became one of the world's greatest authorities on ancient Egypt. This was the record of James Henry Breasted, founder of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, whose biography has just been issued by his son.

His change in life came through a religious urge which led young Breasted first into a theological school, and then from the study of Hebrew to an interest in the contemporaries of the ancient Hebrews, the Egyptians.

His great feat was the publication of all the Egyptian historical records then known, with translations. He later made important discoveries of Egyptian parallels to the Old Testament. But his memory will probably survive longest for his vivid and scholarly "History of Egypt," which reads like a novel. Such achievements made European scholars realize that, in what had been their own specialty, they were now equaled by an American.

Find Uses for Wooden Shoes

WOODEN SHOES are an almost forgotten economy that may come back. The rationing of leather shoes, followed by the banning of all-leather luggage, indicates a continuing shortage that may make a substitute footwear desirable.

Wooden shoes are used to some extent in the United States. Gardeners wear them, and some workers in chemical plants, dairies and stock yards. Wooden bathing clogs are often seen on beaches. The all-wooden shoes are largely made, appropriately enough, at Holland, Mich. Those with leather tops are an Iowa product. Neither kind is made in large quantities, and both are snapped up as soon as made.

"All roads lead to Rome" they used to say. Now it's to Washington.

THAT WAS JUST AN APPETZIER

Consider Post-War Trade Pacts

By CHARLES P. STEWART

POST-WAR internationalism is talked about aplenty in Washington. It relates both to diplomacy and economics.

From the economic angle it deals largely with trade pacts. These proposed pacts are discussed in general, but they are considered especially as between and among the American republics, plus Canada. The chat verges upon advocacy of an alignment not far short of a New World confederation.

Trade pact bargains could include only democratic countries at present. It will be too early for the Axis powers to figure in them directly after the war. Germany is only speculated upon theoretically. Italy is duly weighed as a later possibility, the Mussolini regime having been eliminated, as expected.

France is too mixed up to be reckoned with yet. Spain is a minor calculation. The idea is to bunch the still smaller European states together and negotiate with them more or less collectively.

Africa is still too little understood to be estimated intelligently. It is being studied, though—particularly its Mediterranean coast, to which lots of attention has been directed lately by military operations.

* * *

RUSSIA promises to be a puzzle. Its solution will depend upon what principles our own democratic philosophies and the Communists can agree upon. It does not look like being easy to arrive at. Nevertheless, there is at least an improvement in relations between we democrats and the supporters of Sovietism.

Now, it goes almost without saying that we Yankees and the British will be the joint hub of whatever worldwide dicker, if any, is effected. The British, of course, include Canada and Australasia, and probably we can include China in our hook-up.

Anyway, the Anglo-American outfit will predominate, including, on the one hand, the western New World and perhaps China, and, on the other hand, England and John Bull's overseas dependencies.

This does not necessarily include Russia, which is a matter of pure guesswork, and it does not include Japan, which is worse than the Nazi regime and may have to be approximately wiped off the map to restore 100 per cent peace on earth.

Thus there will be left only India and a few additional small spots to be pacified.

* * *

WE (I am speaking of the United States) had a peace period after the World war I. Workers, left alone, produced what we needed. Times were reasonably good. Producers had an adequate demand for their stuff to keep them humping on their jobs. Everything was lovely. Economics were adjusted. There was a nice balance. Then the last war popped. All production of everything that everybody wanted was choked off at its source, in favor of shot and gunpowder. Well, the war ended. Jobs of that sort ended also.

Ample calls for all varieties of civilian supplies remaining hanging fire.

Civiliandom wanted the stuff but it had not the money to pay for it.

Now it is being repeated.

The last one was a record depression. It is a fair surmise that this will beat the first one proportionately.

Can there be a world depression that won't be reflected in a U. S. depression?

Naturally, we have not got too much of what we've GOT.

We've got too much of what we don't NEED for anything but military purposes.

How about that post-war depression?

And why won't it be worldwide?

Learn to Stand Alone

NO MATTER who you are or what you are, there is one great lesson you must learn in life—

YOU MUST LEARN TO STAND ALONE.

It won't be easy for you to learn that lesson. You'll find endless excuses for evading it, and some of the excuses will seem beautiful and noble.... But you'll soon find that, no matter how clever the excuse, how beautiful or noble, life won't accept it.

YOU MUST LEARN TO STAND ALONE.

Have you ever watched a baby learning to walk? How timidly the little feet take those first stumbling steps! How closely the tiny fingers cling to any support—the mother's hand, the table edge! And even after the feet have learned the trick, the small hands continue to cling, not daring to trust their own strength.

Babyhood is swiftly passed. But baby ways are not as easily cured. Long after we have learned to walk and run, our minds still reach for help; still cling to some beloved object for comfort and support. All our lives we cling to something. We die clinging.

We cling to THINGS. We are so sure that if we can only catch the THINGS we desire, life will be free and strong and happy. If we can own a nice home, a good car, the right clothes, a tidy sum in the bank, then everything will be jake. Frantically we scramble to achieve this dream.

Then at last we have what we want. But are we satisfied? No. After the first flush of success back comes the old restlessness and uncertainty, the old discontent. Maybe if we had something more — something better.

We cling to PEOPLE, too. Surely that can't be wrong! No, it isn't wrong to love. But it's wrong to lean on love—to expect love to sustain us, when we should sustain ourselves.

Then the inevitable happens. Those we love insist on leading their own lives, as they should. We clutch at them desperately. We tell them how terribly we need them. They listen impatiently. Tenderly, but we see—how bitterly we see—that their minds are elsewhere.

Or sometimes Death swoops down and breaks the clutch of our desperate, adoring fingers.

So THINGS fail us. And PEOPLE fail us. And at last WE MUST STAND ALONE.

But even then we will not admit that it is right and necessary for us to stand alone. Instead, we set up a great wailing. We cry that life isn't worth while if we haven't the things we want; if we haven't the people we love.

And we grow bitter and angry. We punish the people who won't let us use their lives as leaning posts. We cry out against a system which won't permit us all to be millionaires. We blame everybody but our own selves.

But we're wrong. They're not to blame. Our suffering has come because we ourselves have broken the first, the most important, law of life—the law that we MUST STAND LONE.

Timely Editorial

Where Hopes Aren't Enough.

We wish that we could share in Food Administrator Chester Davis' optimism concerning farm production prospects for this year.

He thinks there will be sufficient labor, machinery and fertilizer to bring in a 1943 crop of hoped-for size.

It seems to us that he puts too much faith in the potential performance of 3,500,000 non-farm men, women and children to be recruited for emergency farm service. Willingness is one thing and ability and stick-to-it-ive-ness are another. Performance, not hopes, will tell the story.

Davis apparently gives little or no consideration to that all-important factor in any agricultural operation—the weather.

A farmer knows that he can't count on any crop until he has it harvested. It will take more than a decree from Washington to bring in the crops. Akron Beacon Journal.

Army Is Disturbed By Defects In Airplane Engines Passed as Okay

WASHINGTON—Some of the biggest bigwigs in the air corps have flown out to Cincinnati recently to probe a serious situation in the Wright Aeronautical plant uncovered by the Truman committee. Among the worried officials visiting the Wright plant are Assistant Secretary of War Lovett, Lt. Gen. William Knudsen, Col. Bill O'Dwyer (former candidate for Mayor of New York, now the Air Corps' chief investigator) and Gen. C. R. Branshaw of Dayton, Ohio.

What the Truman committee found was certain alleged defects in airplane motors plus lack of careful inspection.

Engines were tested in part by running pink liquid through the cylinders and if any of this pink coloring came through, it indicated there was a leak some place and the cylinders were defective. However, even when defects were indicated, testimony taken by the Truman committee states that the engines were okayed by inspectors.

Gen. Knudsen, long the production wizard for General Motors, wrote a report following his trip to Cincinnatti, tending to play down the seriousness of the Truman committee findings. He said that almost all engines had minor defects in them, and that the pink markings which indicated defects were not serious.

However, the army appears worried over the entire situation and is moving in to clear it up. One factor difficult to explain is the Truman committee testimony that two inspectors objected vigorously to okaying engines which appeared defective.

They were civil service employes of the army, not of the Wright company. Eventually the two protesting inspectors were transferred, one of them being told not to set foot on Wright property again, according to the testimony.

This is what looks bad. The Truman committee is waiting for the army to clean up the situation completely.

Memo to the President.

MEMO TO THE PRESIDENT: The anti-tank troops you saw at Dallas, Tex., on your recent trip to Mexico were not from the 8th Service Command, as was represented to you. They were from Camp Hood at Temple, Tex.

What happened was that the 8th Service Command at Dallas wanted to make the biggest and best possible showing for you, but had no big anti-tank guns, or bazookas. So they sent to Camp Hood for a company of bazooka men.

When the latter arrived, very pround to appear before the president, and wearing their insignia of a leopard biting a tank, they were made to remove these insignia before they paraded before you.

The House on R Street.

IT WAS partly the fact that Ex-Gov. Bob Hurley of Connecticut was involved in a company making war goods that caused the hard-working house military affairs committee to prick up its ears and delve deeper into the now famous "Big Red House on R Street."

Ex-Gov. Hurley turned up as vice president of the Narragansett Machine Tool Co., of Pawtucket, R. I., a firm whose Washington agent shelled out $3,300 to Mrs. Eula Smith, hostess of the R Street house.

It also appeared that Ex-Gov. Hurley had been of considerable help to the Narragansett company, at least as far as monetary influence goes.

The company had received a subcontract from the Ford Motor Co. to manufacture gun mounts for the army; also had received a $2,000,000 loan from a Boston bank, guaranteed 90 per cent by the government.

Most of this $2,000,000 loan was spent "tooling up" for the Ford sub-contract, then the contract was cancelled because the demand for gun mounts had declined. That was the "official" reason for the cancellation. Another was that the Narragansett firm needed reorganization.

At this point, after Ford's cancellation, the company's loan risk dropped. A good part of the $2,000,000 had been spent. Then suddenly the war department renewed the loan, this time with a 100 per cent guarantee instead of 90 per cent.

It was at about this time that Ex-Gov. Hurley stepped into the picture.

An accountant for the company, testifying before the committee, said that Hurley drew a salary of $12,000, came to Pawtucket about once a week and that he rarely saw him.

Just what the company got through the $3,300 paid by its agent, Albert Bennett Fey to Mrs. Eula Smith on R Street, nobody has quite found out yet.

Note: Chairman May and the military affairs committee wisely are not permitting the house on "R" Street mysteries to deter them from much more important though less spectacular wartime matters. They are going ahead with vital war bills, letting a sub-committee delve into the intrigues of R Street.

NORTHERN TUNISIA—(By Wireless)—When about to go into battle, some men are very introspective and thoughtful. Others carry on as though everything were normal.

I remember one night when chow had come up just after dusk and a dozen or so of us were opening tin-cans to the tune of constant shellfire. Somebody started singing a parody of some song. Others joined in, and for five minutes there in the night they sang funny songs. A silly feature of that episode is that now I can't remember what we sang.

Another time we were sitting in the darkness on a rocky ledge waiting to start a night march that would culminate in an attack in which some of the men were to die before dawn.

As we sat there, the officers who were to lead the attack got into a long discussion comparing the London and New York subways. The sum total of the discussion was that the London subways were better than ours. After that the conversation drifted off onto the merits and demerits of the Long Island railroad.

The only "warlike" thing about the discussion was that somebody expressed a hearty desire to be riding on the Long Island railroad that very minute.

WAR sometimes gets almost like Hollywood. We had a fantastic example one day.

A company of our troops worked far ahead of us and got pinned down on the back side of a hill. This back slope was almost a cliff. It was practically straight up and down. Our men were trapped there, just hiding behind rocks and on little ledges. The Germans had worked their way up onto a long slope in front of them, and around each end behind them.

The first Hollywood effect was that although they were completely surrounded by the enemy we still had telephone communication with them. So their company commander asked us to start shooting mortars over onto the Germans on the face of the hill.

We set up a battery of mortars and let fly a practice round at the Germans a mile or so away. As the mortars roared our battery commander said over the phone, "They're on the way, Mac." Then we'd wait about 30 seconds and Mac's voice would come back:

"They went clear over our heads. Bring her down a little."

Thus with him directing us to right and left, up and down, we kept shooting until our mortar shells were landing smack on the Germans.

Of course that's the way all artillery is directed. But usually there is an observer on some other hill a mile or so away, watching through binoculars. In this case our observer was beyond our own falling shells and so close he'd duck down behind his cliff every time they came over. Even veterans where we were had to laugh at the thing.

And just as in Hollywood it had a happy ending. Our shells ran off the Germans and our men were rescued.

* * *

ONE AFTERNOON Capt. Russell Wight and I were lying in the sun against a bank alongside a dirt road, waiting for some tanks to come past so he could show them where to attack. While we lay there, machine-gun bullets sang over our heads.

Once a dozen Messerschmitts dived and bombed hell out of an empty field a quarter of a mile away. And a German tank was whamming 75-mm. shells into a hillside just behind us with such rhythmic fury that we felt the gunner must be shooting from personal outrage. But we were quite safe from it all in our ditch behind the hill, and we lay drowsily in the sun as though on a picnic back home.

Captain Wight is the kind of person I feel at home with. The enlisted men love him more than any officer I ever heard them speak about. He lives at Cambridge, Mass., and he was an executive of a big soap company. His business experience with personnel would fit him for some safer work, but he wound up in the fightingest job in the army—as an infantry company commander.

He has no kicks. He is already living on borrowed time, for three times 88-mm. shells have landed within ten feet of him and freakishly left him untouched.

He had no bad effects at all other than being deaf for about 24 hours. He says he heard no explosions. He says the sensation was that of an enormous bear giving him a sudden hug.

Finally the tanks came by and the leader got out and talked for a few minutes before going into battle. The young tank commander's boss drove up in a jeep and gave him some instructions. He told him, "If it gets too hot, button up and pray for darkness."

The young tank commander laughed and said that's what he would do. A half hour later he was dead. Captain Wight and I sat on our hillside and saw it happen.

That is the way it goes. After a while you don't feel too deeply about it. You don't dare to.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Date With Mother

FOR a very short drive, full of scenery and romance, no trail can excel the little back road that drops down into our valley from the south. No houses are on it.

The track is wide enough for just one car, with grass growing through the rocky center between the wheel tracks. Berry briers protrude, and in places, low hanging branches of woodland trees brush against the car top. Surprisingly, along this road, fields of corn and wheat are tucked away upon flattened clearings which show not at all from the valley below, but nestle into corners of the wooded hills and delight the eye of travelers going down.

At one place, a group of tall sweet cherry trees and a few piles of rocks mark where a homestead stood. Here we parked our car, on Mother's Sunday, my wife and I, and quietly enjoyed an hour of solitude.

The hills of an adjoining pasture were misty with bluets. The junipers were white, and the dogwoods just beginning. The tender wheat rippled over the breast of the hill in soft curving promise. In the woods beyond, pink budded maples showed and buckeyes burst their buds to show five-fingered leaflets.

A wild mother rabbit came plopping along the trail—paused in front of the car and gave us a cool, indifferent stare—then hopped away into the wheat without once looking back. A pair of cardinals darted into the tame cherry blooms and out again.

We heard on the breeze the evening bells of a neighboring village — the eerie note of a mourning dove accented the quietude. We spoke of similar times, years past, that linger in the memories of both of us. Then, forgetting to talk, we sat and soaked up the peace of the hills.

"You two!" our children exclaimed when we came home. "If you drove all this time, you must have used lots of gas! Do you think that's patriotic?"

We didn't tell where we'd been. We didn't say we had been less than a mile from home. Young folks would call us silly.

RAINBOW GIRLS GIVE MOTHER-DAUGHTER TEA

Mrs. J. V. Horst Guest Speaker At Annual Event, Held At First Methodist Church; Miss Mary McCartney Gives Welcoming Address.

MRS. J. V. HORST was guest speaker at the annual Mother-Daughter tea given by the Order of Rainbow for Girls yesterday at the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Horst compared the daily life in Siam with the life in America. Her talk also contained many personal experiences of an unusual nature.

The welcoming address was given by Miss Mary McCartney, worthy advisor and Mrs. Harry Dailey responded. "Dear Mom" was the title of the accordion solo played by Miss Elene Dysart. Barbara Schaller played a piano solo, "Tarantella," and Miss McCartney sang "I'll See You Again."

Tea was served from a table centered with a bowl of flowers arranged in rainbow colors. Tall green tapers were the only other decorations on the table.

The table was presided over by Miss Joyce Hubbs Mrs Skelton and Mrs Hubbs poured Program chairman for the occasion was Miss Virginia Osbun

Orchestra Of A.A.U.W. Will Furnish Music

Charity Club Gives Report Of Completed Work

The regular report submitted by the Charity club for Red Cross and hospital sewing by members for January, February, March, April and May to date is of interest to those in anyway connected with the organizations

Articles completed for the Red Cross were 4 baby bonnets, 7 pair mittens, 12 baby sacks, made by Mrs. Bacon, 76 housewives, 25 kit bags, 12 baby slips, 13 tailored coats for children, made by Mrs Conklin and 8 hospital coats, totaling 157 pieces of work

Garments for the hospital included 12 terry cloth pads, 32 baby bed sheets 59 dresser covers, 14 breast binders, 109 dressing towels, 29 smaller dressing towels, 75 tray cloths, made by Mrs. Paul Sturges, Sr., 17 napkins, T binders, 12 draw sheets, 3 seam sheets, 10 new curtains for the nurses' home, 6 surgical sheets, 6 triangles, 11 glove cases, 35 towels, 13 baby bed drapes, totaling 379 pieces of completed work.

Discussion On Species Of Lily Held At Meeting

Mrs. O. L. McDaniel gave a report on the garden, center at the meeting of the Garden Study club, held at the home of Mrs. Gilmore Hiett, Rae avenue. The other afternoon speaker was Mrs L. D. Bowers.

Mrs. Bowers gave comments on the book "The World Is My Garden" by David Fairchild, and told something of the author's life. She also led a discussion on lilies. She spoke of them as contributing material for drugs, food and perfume. In China, lilies are grown for food. Many kinds are grown in many places, but most lilies come from Japan and China.

In the discussion, Mrs. Bowers referred to the history of the lilies beginning with the Bible with the reference concerning the "Lilies of the field" until the various new developments now on the market.

Mrs. L. E Strain, president, conducted the business meeting for the 13 members, at which they decided to contribute to the Y. W. C. A. camp fund.

Mrs. W. S. Valmore will entertain at the May 28 meeting at her home on Cook road

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, May 18.

The emphasis seems to be placed on the social on this day, although some serious thinking may be done This may involve scientific or inventive effort Inspirational and intuitive abilities are fortified while logic and reason are high.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a successful, pleasant and happy year. There may be a sturdy and concentrated appeal, bringing courtship and marriage. Also the cultural pursuits may be on a high basis for creative work. Inventive and scientific thinking may be strengthened, and profitable as well

A child born on this day should have much grace and charm, with strong personal magnetism to which sound judgment and creative ability may be added.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PENALTIES CLEAR-CUT

Penalties for out-of-order bids, doubles and redoubles, after the auction has been opened, are much more clear-cut in the new Laws of Contract Bridge than in the old ones Also, they are more equitable, in applying different penalties under different circumstances. Following the opening of the auction, unless the opponents condone the irregularity, these apply:

1. A bid out of turn, when it is the turn of the opponent at the offender's right, is cancelled, and the offender's partner must pass on his next turn

2. A bid out of turn, when it is the turn of the offender's partner, is cancelled, and both members of the offending side must pass whenever it is their turn, also if the offending side has the opening lead, the declarer may require or forbid the lead of a specified suit.

3. A double or redouble, when it is the turn of the opponent at the offender's right, gives the opponent at the left of the offender the right to let it stand or cancel it, but in either case the offender's partner must pass thereafter.

4 A double or redouble, when it is the turn of the offender's partner, gives the opponent at the left of the offender the right to let it stand or cancel it, and in either case the offenders must pass whenever it is their turn thereafter, also, if the offenders have the opening lead, the declarer may require or forbid the lead of a specified suit

5. A double or redouble in turn, but by a player who names an incorrect number of tricks or a wrong denomination, is deemed to be a double or redouble of the bid as made, and the partner of the offender must pass on his next turn

6 A double of a bid by the doubler's partner obliges the doubler to substitute any proper call, and his partner must pass thereafter.

7 Same penalty as stated in 6 applies to a redouble of a bid which has not been doubled.

8. A double or redouble of a bid which the offender or his partner has already doubled or redoubled, as the case may be, is deemed to have been a pass, also the opponent to the left of the offender may cancel the previous double or redouble, if he wishes, and the offending player and his partner must pass thereafter

A double or redouble, before the auction opens, is cancelled, the offender may in turn make any proper call, and the offender's partner must pass whenever it is his turn

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Without hesitation Katharine looked at my father with steady, shining eyes.

"There is nothing you can do for Jack which I am not ready to do," she said

"I was sure of that," my father said "I want you to keep that rendezvous at the Myers apartment for which Ruth Hayes asked, and I want you to go alone."

I saw swift panic leap into Katharine's eyes, and I knew that no thought of danger had brought it there; that she was shuddering in revulsion at the thought of having to face the woman who had tried to undermine her trust in Jack, and who was responsible for the loss of his crytogram, so vital to the scheme on which he was working for the benefit of the government. and involving a discovery which spies of hostile nations were trying so desperately to secure.

Katharine Ready.

I crushed back the cry of "Oh, no, Father," which was on my lips This was Katharine's decisions to make, not mine, and it would be an impertinence to her and to my father to interfere.

"I know how you dread meeting that woman," my father said "Physical danger has no effect on you And please believe me, dear girl," he went on gently, "if there were any other way, I would not ask you to face the ordeal I now must ask."

She lifted her head proudly, and spoke with determination.

"I shall not fail you," she said. "Please do not give another thought to my dread of meeting that woman. I already have conquered it."

"I knew you'd take it that way," my father said approvingly, "and if my plans work out, as they usually do, you will have to be in the same room with her only a few minutes. There will be but a minimum of danger, and Margaret will be very near you"

"Oh!" she exclaimed in relief and joy, then chivalrous generosity led her to say, "No, she mustn't go into danger for me"

"It isn't a question of what either of you wishes, or what I wish," my father replied firmly "If I consulted only my own wishes, both of you would remain here in safety. But I need you both, and I know the loyal co-operation I will get from Margaret as well as you"

"You can count on me, Father," I said quietly, and he smiled at me affectionately.

Another Phone Call.

"I must go into the other suite and set things in motion," he said, rising. "I advise both of you to get what sleep you can this afternoon and evening, for from midnight on, nobody knows what may confront you"

He was almost at my bedroom door when the telephone rang again, and he halted

"I'll just wait until I see who that is," he said.

I went to the telephone and heard Ruth Hayes' voice in stormy altercation with the telephone operator.

"I have been trying to get this hotel for half an hour, she was saying. "I shall report you to the management"

"Operator, don't pay the slightest attention to that woman," I cut in with smooth, calm accents "She was talking to this apartment less than five minutes ago."

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Cut and Come Again Vegetable for Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY

(Released by Central Press Ass'n)

SWISS CHARD is actually a variety of the common beet, although it does not develop a root as does the beet. It is grown principally for its leaf growth which makes excellent greens Swiss chard is often called the "cut and come again" vegetable because it permits continuous cropping It should be included in the Victory garden because of the vitamins it contains.

Swiss chard can be sown as soon as the ground can be worked The rows should be from 18 to 24 inches apart Since the seed clusters contains several seeds each, they should be thinly planted. When the plants are four inches high, thin to two inches apart. Use the thinnings for greens.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, the outside leaves are removed to be used for greens, and the plant continually sends up dozens of new center shoots until frost comes The leaves, when the size of spinach, can be used as spinach. Some people prefer to allow the leaves to grow until very large, when the leafy portion is cooked as greens and the thick, fleshy stalks or midribs are prepared like asparagus.

Swiss chard is sometimes attacked by the blister beetle, see illustration. These beetles will completely skeletonize the leaves as they feed together in swarms. Spraying the plants with pyrethrum as soon as the beetles appear is effective providing the insects are hit by the spray which kills by paralyzing them Repeat the spraying as new beetles appear.

Newark Keglers Win Doubles Crown In Colony Tourney

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

They put a lot of people in the balmy houses who have sense enough to come in out of the rain—and they still let golfers run at large.

Yes, you guessed it. First time out, and I get caught in a hail and rain storm, along with Phil Warga and Ray Shively. Sure, we knew it was going to rain, but do you think we had sense enough to pick up our clubs and make with the patter of little feet toward the Coolridge club house before the rain and hail began to patter down?

Katie Warga and Pauline Shively had sense enough to run for shelter in time, but I am beginning to suspect that they are not golfers. Such a practical outlook on life does not go with the game.

* * *

So there Phil and Ray and I stood under an unsheltering shade tree by No 8 green while the hailstones bounced all around as big as golf balls—little golf balls.

And then the rain came down in driving torrents and the friendly tree decided it had all the water it could hold and let the stuff down in bucketloads on our backs and finally we decided we couldn't be any wetter if we were in swimming, so we ups and starts the march to the clubhouse, scornful of the elements.

* * *

And how was the golf, up 'til then? Can't you think of any pleasanter subjects for conversation?

* * *

This is another day, so we'll change the conversation.

This is the day Mary (Bucky) Holda, shortstop of the Provident Loan girls softball team, reports for a two-week tryout in Chicago for the new All American girls softball league which is backed by 100 grand of Phil K. Wrigley's masticated millions. Chewing gum fodder to you, Archibald, and dat ain't hay.

Ten o'clock a. m. today, Chicago time, she reports, so I'm told, and I rather think she'll still be there came next fall, Central War Time.

* * *

Her ability and experience should let her in the group of 60 girls, chosen out of 100, for the four teams in the Wrigley sponsored league, particularly since the bigger share of girls getting a tryout are pitchers.

Bucky left last Friday to make the trip with another girl chosen for a tryout, and Mansfield fans will be pulling for her to make good.

St. Louis Keglers Win Doubles Title

CHICAGO—(INS)—Frank Mataya and Nelson Burton of St. Louis, surviving from play in which 36 teams participated, emerged today as National doubles match game bowling champions after defeating the runner-up combination of Ned Day and Rudy Pugel of Milwaukee by two points.

Crucial Series Already

Dodgers and Cardinals Begin Title Battle.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

AN EARLY blooming "crucial series" sprouted today in Brooklyn with the Dodgers matched against the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals in a twilight tussle at Ebbets Field.

Few doubt that these two teams have the National league pennant struggle entirely between themselves and every game they play with each other will have an important bearing on the championship.

In the opener Frank (Rube) Melton is expected to be matched on the mound with Lefty Howard Pollet of the Redbirds.

* * *

The Dodgers prepared for the invasion by cuffing the Chicago Cubs twice in a doubleheader yesterday, 4-0, and 3-2.

Ed Head pitched the shutout, spacing five hits in a duel with Lon Warneke, who kept Brooklyn scoreless till the eighth.

The Cardinals were held to a draw in two games with the rambunctious Phillies before a crowd of 30,823 at Philadelphia. Howard Krist pitched six-hit ball in a joust with Schoolboy Rowe in the first game, but was forced to 11 innings before getting a 4-3 decision on Whitey Kurowski's squeeze bunt. The Phillies bounded back to take the second 2-1 with Rookie Al Gerheauser, a southpaw, pitching seven-hit ball.

As a result the Cards slipped into a tie for second place with the Boston Braves, who swept a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 and 6 1.

In the other National league show the New York Giants divided with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Manager Mel Ott hit his third homer in three days, with one aboard, to decide the first game 3-1. Bob Klinger pitched five hit ball to win the second 2-1.

The New York Yankees split at St. Louis, but lost none of their American league lead. Spud Chandler pitched nine-hit ball for his fourth straight victory without defeat as the Yanks nailed the opener 7-3, then the Browns bagged the nightcap 4-3 in ten innings although held to five hits while New York made nine.

* * *

Cleveland's second place Indians also divided a double bill. They were beaten 5-8 by the Philadelphia Athletics in the first game, but retaliated with a 3-2 verdict in the second contest.

* * *

Washington moved into third place by downing the Detroit Tigers twice, 7-1 on five hit hurling by Early Wynn and 10-6 in a slugging session.

The Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox halved a pair of games with identical scores 42.

Big Ten Golf Tourney Opens

Red McCarthy Back To Defend Crown.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Jim "Red" McCarthy of Illinois and the Michigan Wolverines, defending individual and team champions respectively, set their sights on more western conference golf titles as the 22nd annual Big Ten tournament opened today at the Westmoreland Country club.

The tournament, in which eight schools will compete over a 72-hole route, will continue through tomorrow.

* * *

McCarthy, signal-calling end on the 1942 Illinois football team, faced a field of 38 players in the individual play. He won the title last spring at Ann Arbor, Mich., while the Wolverines took the team crown with a total of 301 strokes for the four medal play rounds.

* * *

Ben Smither, Wolverine captain, was out to get revenge for McCarthy's upset victory over him last year. Other top-ranking individual stars are Capt. Johnny Stoltz of Northwestern, Jim Teale of Minnesota, John Lorms of Ohio State and Doug Oldenburg of Wisconsin.

Iowa and Purdue failed to send teams. Both schools have abandoned the game as a competitive sport this season.

Turn Tables On League Leaders

(By Associated Press)

The Kansas City Blues were shut out 5 to 0 by league-leading Indianapolis, then popped up with a 14 to 1 victory in the afterpiece in yesterday's American Association demonstration of form reversal.

* * *

Columbus maintained its second place in the standings by splitting with Minneapolis, winning the first game, 6 to 4, and dropping the second, 4 to 3.

* * *

Milwaukee beat Louisville 6-5 in the first game, but faded 4 to 2 in the second.

Only club to make a twin killing during the day was Toledo. The Mudhens tripped St. Paul 6 to 3 and 6 to 2.

Toledo Golfers Aid War Effort

Schedule Tournament For Prisoners' Fund.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Toledo district golfers will be in there swinging this summer—for America's war prisoners.

They're planning a tournament for June 21 at Sylvania country club, and it will cost each entrant $5 to get off the first tee. And every cent of the $5 will go to the war prisoner's fund, to aid service men from that district who have fallen into foreign hands.

A goal of $2,500 has been set. Expenses will be shared by the Toledo District Golf association, the Toledo chapter of the Professional Golfers' association, and the Toledo Public Golfers association, joint sponsors of the event, so that the full entry fee and donation funds will be available for the benefit.

Sports writers and radio sportscasters of Toledo worked out the plan, which calls for the district to take care of its own war prisoners. Included in the list to be benefited will be the little band of tank corps heroes from Port Clinton, taken captive when Bataan and Corregidor fell.

Two nationally-known golfers, Byron Nelson of Toledo Inverness, and Jimmy Demaret, the smiling Texan now located at Detroit's Plum Hollow club, wil be among the entrants.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK—(AP)—Pennsylvania recently passed a law permitting kids of 16 to compete in amateur boxing tournaments . . . That doesn't mean so much, because plenty of 16-year-olds have borrowed birth certificates from older pals to get an early start. . . . But Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell and Ralph Marlow, A. A. U. men who backed the bill, are working on a plan to enlist high school support and to create a special class for the younger novices, so they may even have some real amateurs in their amateur tourneys.

MORE KID STUFF

The Western Golf association, working on a plan to make caddying more attractive to boys and their parents, suggests clubs put in Victory garden programs, supervised physical training, commando drills and instruction in other useful tasks and crafts besides lugging golf clubs . . . We might add one more lesson, valuable to bag toters in later life—when and how to keep one's trap shut.

* * *

MONDAY MATINEE

Friday's Beau Jack-Bob Montgomery tussle will be the first title fight of the year in Madison Square Garden . . . Wally Dashiell, former Pensacola, Fla., and Dallas, Tex., baseball manager who recently turned down a commission as a navy physical instructor to take an OPA job, is looking forward to the end of the war so he can get busy reorganizing the Southeastern league.

* * *

The Camp Grant, Ill., baseball team brings along his own umpire these days and nobody complains. He's Pvt. Art Passarella, who called 'em in the American league before his induction and whose vision was recorded as "20-20" by the army docs . . . The 803rd signal training regiment has contributed four ten-second sprinters to the Fort Monmouth, N. J., track team . . . Why bother to signal when they can get there quicker on foot?

* * *

When his Birmingham Barons were playing at New Orleans recently, Manager Paul Florence promised the players a steak dinner if they won a doubleheader. . . . After they broke even, someone asked him where he would have gotten the steaks . . . "By golly, I never thought of that," gasped Paul. "I really would have been on the spot if we'd won both."

Buckeyes Capture Big Ten Net Title

EVANSTON, Ill. —(INS)— The Ohio State Buckeyes returned home today with the Big Ten tennis championship, won on the courts of Northwestern university.

The new champs scored 13 points, with Illinios, the runner-up, right behind with 11. Wisconsin, in third place, had 10.

Northwestern, the defending champion, finished fourth with nine points but furnished the winner of the individual singles title in naval aviation cadet Roger Downs who scored an upset victory over Bob Wasserman, Ohio State sophomore, seeded No. 1. The scores were 11-9, 6-4.

Ohio State and Wisconsin were tied for the team title with 12 points each when they went into the final event, the No. 1 doubles match. The Buckeyes' team of Wasserman and Charles Samson won this for the title, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, over Hubert Schneider and Tom Stephans of the Badgers.

COP COURT CROWN

GAMBIER, O. — (AP) — Otterbein college captured the Ohio conference tennis championship on Kenyon college courts Saturday.

Revived Phils Draw Crowds

31,000 Fans Turn Out For Card Twin Bill.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Shortly after the Cardinals arrived from Philadelphia last night—for four games with the Dodgers—we borrowed an oxygen tank and then elevatored up to Billy Southworth's last-stop, 40th-floor room in the Hotel New Yorker.

Southworth, middle-sized, middle-aged manager of the champion Cards, chuckled when we coined a nifty about his certainly getting up in the world. He said, "yes—I've either got one foot in heaven, or else it's still a dream."

"How's that?"

* * *

"We just played a doubleheader with the Phillies at their home park—and drew nearly 31,000 fans. I saw it, and I know it's true, but it still seems like a dream that I can't believe."

* * *

"Why?"

"In the first place, we were playing the Phillies at Shibe park, and in the second place, when I looked out my window in the forenoon, I figured the double-header might be called off. Things were so uncertain that there weren't many fans in the stands when the first game opened. But—during that first game—they certainly poured in."

What did the man in the dapper blue suit think of the Phillies—the outfit that held the world champion Cardinals to a 4-3 victory in 11 innings in the first game and beat the Cards, 2-1, in the nightcap?

* * *

Billy said, "they're certainly playing inspired baseball. Their new owner and new manager have sold them on the idea they can go places. They're full of hustle. They've captivated the fans—created a lot of new enthusiasm in Philadelphia."

* * *

"Will the Phillies finish in the first division?"

"Merely making a wild guess," he continued, "I figure the Phillies might finish in the upper bracket of second division, if they keep on as they're going."

DAVIS FAVORED

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Al (Bummy) Davis' ring-wisdom today gave him a precarious 6-5 edge as the favorite in his 10-round meeting with Al Tribuani, of Wilmington, Del., at the Philadelphia arena tonight.

Toledoan Takes Bowling Crown

CLEVELAND —(AP)— William Mattison of Toledo today held the class A singles title in the Ohio State bowling association tournament.

The Toledoan fired 711 yesterday to oust Cecil Lebo of Akron from the top spot in the A division. vision.

Class B honors went to Vernon Barnes of Cleveland with 725.

The class A team championship was won by the Midland Mutual Life Insurance company, of Columbus with 3,040. County's cafe of Cleveland led the B teams with 2,975.

Fred MacMurtrie of Cleveland rolled 1,977 to beat Clevelander George Marlitz by two pins in the class A all-events. Harry Nielsen of Lorain is the new division champion with 1,928.

Cleveland combinations paced the doubles events.

Tribe Splits With Athletics

Cullenbine's Home Run Decides Second Game.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Manager Lou Boudreau's action in benching Otto Denning and installing Roy Cullenbine at first base is beginning to pay dividends for the Cleveland Indians.

The change obviously was intended to generate more batting power and the switch-hitting Cullenbine produced it yesterday when he belted a home run to win the nightcap of a double header with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Cullenbine's blow broke an eighth-inning deadlock and gave the Tribe a 3 to 2 victory. The round-tripper also helped Jim Bagby record his fourth hurling triumph as against one defeat. Bagby pitched the last one and two-thirds innings after being preceded on the mound by Vern Kennedy, Joe Heving, Pete Center and Ray Poat.

The Redskins lost the opener 5 to 3 as Jesse Flores, Connie Mack's Mexican flinger, won his fifth game in a row since a 1 to 0 defeat on opening day. Al Milnar and Paul Calvert worked for Cleveland with Milnar being charged with the loss.

The Boston Red Sox, current occupants of the American league cellar, invade League park today for a four-game series that includes a night contest at Cleveland stadium tomorrow. Chubby Dean is the Tribe moundsman. Kendall Chase is his opponent.

TAKE ON GIANTS

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, who save had almost nothing but daily disaster in their initial eastern swing, move into the Polo grounds today for the first of four games with the New York Giants.

Yesterday at Boston, the Reds were brutalized in a double bill; the day's totals reading 3 to 1 and 6 to 1, in favor of the Boston Braves.

Bitter as a double defeat always is, the Reds' pill was not sweetened any by the fact that former Redlegs, now wearing Boston livery, figured prominently in both defeats.

Red Barrett, eccentric right-hander, who had three trials with the Cincinnati team, not only defeated Bucky Walters in a tight hurling duel in the opener but he added insult to injury by driving in all three Boston runs with a double in the second inning.

Eddie Joost, former Redleg shortstop, drove in the first Brave tally in the second game with a double in the third frame. This was followed shortly by a mighty four-run homer by Catcher Phil Masi, which iced the contest for the Braves and sent Lefty Clyde Shoun to the showers. Jim Togin went the distance for the Braves in the second game.

Clevelander Cops Top Spot In Singles Event

Mansfielders Winnie Cleckner, Warga, Englehorn Get In Money.

A PAIR of Newark keglers, Benton and Fritz, held the doubles championship today in the Colony second annual singles and doubles bowling tournament, while singles honors went to J. Habert of Cleveland.

Benton and Fritz chalked up a 1203 count to cop the doubles, with Garrett and Pussy of Lima second at 1194, and Phil Warga and Carl Englehorn of Mansfield third at 1191.

* * *

A tough break kept Winnie Cleckner of Mansfieud out of a tie for first in singles when what looked like a perfect hit left the 7-pin standing in a middle frame. He finished second with 670, back of Habert's 690. Joe Kissoff, Cleveland star, was third with 657.

* * *

Defending doubles champions, Alex Black and J. Klares of Lorain couldn't get going in that event, Black rolling 571 and Klares 499 for a 1070 total. Then Klares came back with 635 for sixth in singles.

The tournament closed the bowling season in Mansfield last night. Work of spring cleaning, redecorating, and refinishing the alleys starts this week.

Atlantic Shipping War Begins to Tip In Allies Favor

VITAL FACTORS POINT TO EDGE AGAINST AXIS

Tunisian Victory Comes Just at Time When Need For Shipping's Greatest.

(By United Press)

LONDON — For the first time since the United States entered the war, the balance in the battle of the Atlantic is tipping strongly to the side of the Allies—at a time when huge shipping capacity is needed for rushing invasion troops, supplies, equipment and munitions to Europe.

There has been no official statement to this effect but it can be said confidently on the basis of known published information and certain developments which still are regarded as military secrets.

The greatest boost was clearance of the Mediterranean convoy route by the Tunisian victory which the Allies estimate released at least 2,000,000 tons of shipping for other purposes.

Logistic estimates call for an average of 150,000 tons of shipping per division of troops. This means that the Allies overnight acquired sufficient shipping to move better than 200,000 troops across the Atlantic at a single time.

How often this fleet could turn around is a military secret but obviously it could make at least one delivery each month and possibly more.

In addition, it has been said in Washington that April sinkings by enemy submarines have been less than half those of March and that the improvement is continuing this month. March was a bad month but April was one of the best in a long time.

As long as the rate of sinkings can be held that low, the huge production of American shipyards will pile up a sharp surplus of capacity above losses.

The sudden improvement in the battle is attributable to several factors, including the heavy stream of new United States escort vessels going into service. Another reason is the employment of a new secret weapon which was mentioned in connection with the announcement last week that a record-breaking number of about 10 submarines was believed sunk.

Another factor is believed to be more efficient employment of available escort craft.

Air cover also has been improved all the way across the Atlantic.

NEW EDITORS ANNOUNCED FOR JOHN SIMPSON SCHOOL PAPER

She was named editor at the annual Times editorial and business staff banquet in the school cafeteria. She succeeds Nina Jean Stash, who will enter Mansfield Senior high school next fall.

Other new editors chosen for next school year are: William Young, assistant editor; Frank Lane, feature editor; Dorla Wagner, assistant feature editor; Jeannine Skelton, girls' sports editor; Patricia Steele, assistant girls' sports editor; Marilyn Fisher, society editor; and Richard Flockencier, boys' sports editor.

Pins, bearing the letters, J. S. J. H. S., went to Shirley Burger, Bonnie Reed, Mary Lou Fankhauser, Idella Miller and Richard Fisher, staff reporters.

School letters were awarded Richard Wendland, Doris Alverson, Frank Lane, Paul Jackson, Robert Gandert, Janet Ackerman and Sally Vasilovic, members of the editorial staff.

Members of the business staff receiving pins were William Proshek, Jane Stough, Idella Miller, Wilma Durant and Dorothy Weddell.

Letters went to nine members. They were: John Thomas, Alice Lindsay, Una Bailey, Donald Burger, Richard Cairns, Louis Holt, Mary Parry, Emma Jean Payton, and Helen Whittemire.

THEATERS

Rudy Vallee switches from singer and romantic actor to comedian and character player in Paramount's "Happy Go Lucky," now playing at the Ohio. Vallee slipped into a comedy role in "The Palm Beach Story," and his characterization in the present film is similar to the one he played then. Vallee again plays the part of a millionaire who is vacationing at a tropical resort in the Caribbean. Also seen in "Happy Go Lucky" are Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Mary Martin and Dick Powell.

Without violating any government censorship regulations or causing embarrassment to the California Chamber of Commerce, it can be told that there is snow the year-round within 30 miles of Hollywood. The snow needed for certain scenes in 20th Century-Fox's picturization of John Steinbeck's novel, "The Moon Is Down" now at the Madison, was found on the slopes of Mount Wilson near Pasadena. The location was chosen for the site of the snow-covered Norwegian village portrayed in the picture. Frank Morgan, radio comedian, assumes the role of a chief justice of the United States Supreme Court in "A Stranger In Town," other attraction at the Madison.

A story of three loyal brothers who embark on an adventure in the French Foreign Legion comes to the screen on the Ritz tomorrow. It is the Paramount picture, "Beau Geste," co-starring Gary Cooper, Ray Milland and Robert Preston. The three top performers are seen as the brothers "Geste", a trio whose loyalty burns brightly through desperate battles with desert tribes. Cosmo Jones, detective character of radio, makes his screen debut in "The Crime Smasher." Frank Graham plays the part of the detective.

A daring American girl stakes her life to save her country when she finds herself married to a top-ranking Nazi in Leo McCarey's "Once Upon a Honeymoon," in which Cary Grant and Ginger Rogers star. Action begins when Grant, playing an American correspondent, lists the Miss Rogers as missing in the bombing of Warsaw and then induces her to pose as his wife in their flight across Europe. Otto Kruger and Tina Thayer co-star in "Secrets of a Coed," second picture at the Park.

OPENS WAY TO INSTALL MORE FIRE SIGNALS

New Repeater System Gets Approval, Expands City Alarm System.

In operation today at Central fire station in city hall is a $2,885 repeater unit increasing the circuit capacity of the city's fire warning system. Installed May 1, the unit has passed all tests and received final approval today, City Electrician Ernest Adams said.

Purchased from funds made available through the special half-mill fire levy, the repeater unit will make possible the installation of 80 more fire warning boxes using four more electrical circuits. The older equipment could handle only six circuits, Adams said.

Added circuits and warning boxes are needed to meet recommendations of the insurance underwriters' association.

Adams said the new boxes would be purchased as soon as funds became available from the levy.

Meanwhile, an old police department switchboard has been reconditioned to handle the extra circuits at Central fire station. Four other circuits, bringing the total for the city to 14, will be installed at outlying stations.

The new repeater is also a reconditioned unit, purchased by city council from the Gamewell company at Newton, Mass., Adams said. He said the unit came from a city which had outgrown it, and that a new one would have cost Mansfield at least $2,000 more than this repeater which he reported in first class condition.

Tribute Paid To Deceased Moose Lodge Members

Members and officers of Mansfield Moose lodge participated in a memorial service yesterday at the lodge hall.

The program was opened with the officers of both the men's lodge and the women of the lodge being escorted to their places by the women's degree team.

Governor Fred Roth, Senior Regent Helen Perry and Chaplain Lola Raby gave brief talks on the departed members.

The lodge charter was draped over the altar by Fred Robinson, and a list of the departed members was read by Secretary Fred Berry.

Rev. Albert L. Linder, pastor of Park Avenue Baptist church, spoke on "Fellowship and Friendship—the Proportion of Life."

The hall was decorated with ferns, flowers and carnations. After the service, the graves of past members were decorated with flowers.

BRAZIL'S AIRMEN BAG SUB

RIO DE JANEIRO —(AP)— The Brazilian air force has sunk a U-boat off Maceio, it was announced today.

N. Y. HOLDING O.S.R. FUGITIVE

Officials of the Ohio State reformatory here today requested New York police to hold Eli Levenson, escaped prisoner of the reformatory, pending the outcome of the grand larceny charge he is facing in New York.

Levenson was sentenced to the reformatory from Cuyahoga county for robbery in April, 1931, to serve a 10 to 25-year sentence. He made his escape Dec. 28, 1935.

He was indicted in New York in connection with the hijacking of a $15,000 truckload of leather goods after being brought there from Savanna, Ga., where he operated a novelty shop.

SIRENS BLAST

First In Series of Air Raid Tests Takes Place Today.

First in a series of daily tests for Mansfield's air raid warning signals took place at noon today, but no reports were available this afternoon at defense headquarters on the outcome of the test.

Beginning today and continuing through Wednesday, the sirens will be tested each noon in preparation for the surprise blackout sometime Wednesday.

Wednesday's black-out has been scheduled for eight northcentral Ohio counties at an unannounced hour to test the efficiency of OCD organizations in this area. War plants in this area will take part in the black-out and, under the observance of state officials, attempts to earn exemption from future black-outs.

HEADS J. A. C.

Canton Member Named State President at Session.

Warren Smith of Canton was named president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the association's convention in Cincinnati. Herbert Brown, Salem, was named to the vice presidency.

Six members from the Mansfield organization attended the three-day meeting. They were President Edwin Balyeat, Vice President James Morgan; Roscoe McGinty, chairman of the board of directors; Robert Myers, state director; Eugene Linham and John E. Moore.

NELSON CERTAIN ON WAR OUTPUT

Says We'll Meet 1943 Goals on Munitions, May Even Beat It In Some Cases.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson today assured America and her allies that President Roosevelt's huge but undisclosed 1943 munitions goals would be fully achieved and in some instances exceeded by a comfortable margin.

The entrie picture now is good and there is every indication that it will improve, he said. He warned, however, against letting Allied triumphs lull the nation into false complacency.

"On all important categories in the president's program we are up to and ahead of schedule," he said. "The one exception, is the number of airplanes being turned out but in this important category the question is not one of numbers. It is a question of what kinds of planes are needed and in what numbers to meet conditions arising from the fluidity of war.

"Battle experience has shown that it is qualitative value—not quantitative—that counts in winning victories."

The entire production picture, he explained, changes to keep in tune with shifting demands of the Allied forces. Drastic curtailment of one line of production in favor of another must be expected as the call for individual types of war weapons changes.

"We are confident that American industry and American workers can make any change in schedules that are made necessary by the exigencies of war without causing us to lose momentum and allowing us to keep abreast of the president's program," he said.

RESOLUTION NO. 43-60

By Mr. Kyle:

Declaring it necessary to improve East Fifth Street between Main Street and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks by making necessary foundation repair, widening, grading, curbing, draining, and resurfacing with asphalt or other suitable materials.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO, ¾ of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1: That it is necessary to improve East Fifth Street from Main Street to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks by making necessary foundation repairs, widening, grading, curbing, draining, and resurfacing with asphalt or other suitable materials.

Section 2: That the grade of said street as improved shall be existing grade as shown by engineer's plans and profiles which are made a part hereof.

Section 3: That the plans, specifications, estimates, and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the engineer and now on file in the office of the Director of Public Service be and the same are hereby approved.

Section 4: That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of improvement of Baltimore & Ohio Railroad industrial track, having overall width of nine feet where the same is located in said plans and specifications, and less the cost of public street and alley intersections, and less one-half of reminder, shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following lots and lands towit: all lands and lots bounding and abutting upon the proposed street improvement which said lands and lots are hereby deemed to be specifically benefited by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expenses of the preliminary and other surveys and of printing and publishing of notices, resolution and ordinance required, and the serving of said notices, the cost of construction together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.

Section 5: That the assessment so to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in the anticipation of the collection thereof; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessments in cash within thirty days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

Section 6: That bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Section 7: That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specifically assessed herein, including the cost of the intersections and damages awarded any owner of adjoining lands, and interest thereon, and the costs and expenses of any such award, shall be paid out of the proper Fund.

Section 8: That this resolution shall take effect and be in full force from and after the earliest period allowable by law.

Passed: May 13, 1943.

35—Lots For Sale

POSITIVELY

The last week for you to buy these FHA lots at these low prices! Do you know what it means to own an FHA approved Title 6 lot? It means your lot makes the down payment on your home; it means while the owner of other lots is having his lot approved, you build and occupy your own home. No rent paid . . . no delay . . . no expense . . . no embarrassment. Buy now! Small down payment will hold it; your lot will double in value as the first payment on your home.

CHUCKLES

The man who said talk is cheap never tried to hire the services of a first class radio announcer.

* * *

A famed radio comedian is said to have memorized 30,000 jokes. But he never begins a sentence without a preliminary. "That reminds me—."

* * *

The man at the next desk says he's always noticed that May queens seldom have much difficulty in becoming June brides.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Efficiency Expert. By Harold Gray

I CAN'T IMAGINE ANYTHING MORE INSTRUCTIVE THAN THAT CONDUCTED TOUR, ANNIE-- THAT 'RAT-TRAP' SURE WORKS MIGHTY SLICK, EH?
5-17-43
THE WHOLE THING IS SO EFFICIENT AND DEADLY SURE, IT CHILLS ME! HOW MANY PRISONERS HAVE YOU NOW?
LOTS! HAVE TO LOOK IN TH' BOOK TO TELL EXACTLY-
HMM--THAT THIRD U-BOAT IS DOWN THERE, WITH IT'S CREW ABOARD--WHAT'S THE NEXT MOVE?
THAT'S WHERE YOU COME IN- FOOLIN' 'EM INTO BLOWIN' EMSELVES UP IN TH' RIVER WON'T WORK--
WE'VE GOT TO GET A NEW ANGLE--ALL THIS HAND WORK IS TOO SLOW--WE'VE GOT TO START A DESTRUCTION LINE!

BLONDIE—A Lot For the Money! By Chic Young

I'M GOING TO BUY MYSELF A HAT TODAY
YOU ALWAYS CHOOSE SUCH SILLY ONES, DEAR
WELL, ALL RIGHT, THEN, YOU BUY ME A HAT-- YOU PICK ONE OUT
THAT'S A GO! I'LL BUY YOUR HAT THIS TIME
5-17
I'M JUST DYING TO SEE WHAT KIND OF A HAT A MAN WOULD PICK OUT FOR HIS WIFE

THE NEBBS— A Bouncing Girl. By Sol Hess

EMMA, YOU'RE TEN MINUTES LATE, DON'T FORGET TO MAKE IT UP
YOU KEPT ME AN EXTRA HALF HOUR LAST NIGHT--DON'T YOU FORGET THAT!
5-17-43
ANOTHER THING-- THE FRONT ENTRANCE IS FOR CUSTOMERS--PLEASE COME IN THE BACK WAY
I USE THE FRONT DOOR SO YOU'LL KNOW WHEN I'M HERE!
YOU USUALLY INFORM US OF YOUR PRESENCE BY SMASHING A FEW PLATES--ACCIDENTALLY, I PRESUME!
WELL...I NEVER!
HIM AND HIS "SOURCASM"-- SOMEDAY I'LL BOUNCE SOME CROCKERY OVER HIS WIG AND THAT WON'T BE NO ACCIDENT, NEITHER!

BRICK BRADFORD—On the Throne of Titania. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

WHY CAN'T YOU RETURN TO KARKAR WITH ME?
DON'T YOU REMEMBER?
I'M A FUGITIVE - THROUGH NO FAULT OF MINE!
SO - GOOD LUCK! HURRY BACK WITH JUNE!
MAYBE I SHOULD HAVE TOLD HIM WHAT I REALLY HAVE IN MIND!

MICKEY MOUSE—Chef's Special! By Walt Disney

OH, WHAT WILL I DO? MY GUESTS ARRIVE IN A HALF-HOUR AND THE VARNISH IS STILL WET!
GEE, MINNIE, JUST CALL THEM AND POSTPONE YOUR PARTY!
IT'S TOO LATE! THEY'RE ON THEIR WAY HERE NOW! THIS IS TERRIBLE!
GOSH...WE'LL HAVE TO DO SOMETHING FAST! HMMMM... I THINK...
MICKEY! WHAT ON EARTH ARE YOU COOKING?
NO TIME TO EXPLAIN! QUICK, PUT SOME CHAIRS AND TABLES ON THE FRONT LAWN!
HEAVENS, MINNIE, DON'T APOLOGIZE! WE'LL HAVE IT OVER AT MY HOUSE TOMORROW!
MINNIE MOUSE

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

LISTEN- I WANT YOU TO STOP 'PHONING SO MUCH-DON'T YOU REALIZE THERE IS A WAR AND WE'VE BEEN REQUESTED NOT TO USE THE 'PHONE ON A LOT OF UNNECESSARY CALLS?
WHAT IS IT- BERNICE?
MRS HUGH SEDDIT IS ON THE 'PHONE!
5-17
OH-YES-MY DEAR-YES-OUR BRIDGE CLUB MEETS EVERY TUESDAY- BY THE WAY- DID YOU HEAR ABOUT MISS TERTRAIN? YES-SHE HAD ON A LAST YEAR'S DRESS- NO-I DON'T THINK THAT MARRIAGE WILL LAST-
OH-I HAVE THE DARLINGEST HAT- AND YOU MUST SEE MY NEW FURS- REALLY- IS MISS CATCHEM STILL GOING WITH THAT CAPTAIN? I HEARD THAT AGNES IS GOING BACK TO HER HUSBAND-ETC-

THE GUMPS—Soft Heart or Soft Head? By Gus Edson

WHAT?! HENRIETTA ZANDER HAS A GROWN DAUGHTER WHO WAS MARRIED TO BUMLEY??
YES-A-AH-VERY PRETTY GIRL-
GUS EDSON 5-17
'TIS MY OBLIGATION TO RIGHT THE TERRIBLE INJUSTICE DONE TO HER, HENRIETTA, AND ALSO TRISHA!!
DON'T LET YOUR HEART RUN AWAY WITH YOUR HEAD--
I SHALL DO ALL IN MY POWER TO SMOOTH THE PATHS OF THOSE THREE LOVELY VICTIMS OF MY IRRESPONSIBLE BROTHER-
LISTEN TO REASON, BIM! WE ALL ADMIRE SIR WALTER RALEIGH-BUT, WHEN HE SPREAD HIS COAT IN THE MUD, HE WASN'T INSIDE IT!!!

DICK TRACY—Debris. By Chester Gould

WHILE CAR WRECKAGE AND THE PITIFUL REMAINS OF THE LATE MRS. HELMET ARE BEING CLEARED FROM THE TRACKS, A FIGURE STEALS FROM THE WEEDS BESIDE THE RIGHT-OF-WAY AND MINGLES WITH THE CROWD.
SAFE!
—AND HEADED RIGHT BACK TO THE CITY. I'LL SPEND THE NIGHT HERE IN THE SMOKER.
LICENSE CHECKUP SHOWS IT WAS ISSUED TO ONE A.B. HELMET IN THE CITY.
GET THE BODY IN THE WAGON, BOYS.
THIS IS A FUNNY SET UP— A PHONOGRAPH AND RECORDS —AND HER POSITION ON THE SEAT WOULD INDICATE SHE WASN'T EVEN BEHIND THE WHEEL.
